Hall, Christine Frison, 2022-04-18 This volume presents a comprehensive overview of biocultural rights examining how we can promote the role of indigenous peoples and local communities as environmental stewards and how we can ensure that their ways of life are protected With Biocultural Community Protocols BCPs or Community Protocols CPs being increasingly seen as a powerful way of tackling this immense challenge this book investigates these new instruments and considers the lessons that can be learnt about the situation of indigenous peoples and local communities It opens with theoretical insights which provide the reader with foundational concepts such as biocultural diversity biocultural rights and community rule making In Part Two the book moves on to community protocols within the Access Benefit Sharing ABS context while taking a glimpse into the nature and role of community protocols beyond issues of access to genetic resources and traditional knowledge A thorough review of specific cases drawn from field based research around the world is presented in this part Comprehensive chapters also explore the negotiation process and raise stimulating questions about the role of international brokers and organizations and the way they can use BCPs CPs as disciplinary tools for national and regional planning or to serve powerful institutional interests Finally the third part of the book considers whether BCPs CPs notably through their emphasis on stewardship of nature and tradition can be seen as problematic arrangements that constrain indigenous peoples within the Western imagination without any hope of them reconstructing their identities according to their own visions or whether they can be seen as political tools and representational strategies used by indigenous peoples in their struggle for greater rights to their land territories and resources and for more political space This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental law indigenous peoples biodiversity conservation and environmental anthropology It will also be of great use to professionals and policymakers involved in environmental management and the protection of indigenous rights The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

African Print Cultures Derek Peterson, Steph Newell, Emma Hunter, 2016-09-29

The essays collected in African Print Cultures claim African newspapers as subjects of historical and literary study Newspapers were not only vehicles for anticolonial nationalism They were also incubators of literary experimentation and networks by which new solidarities came into being By focusing on the creative work that African editors and contributors did this volume brings an infrastructure of African public culture into view The first of four thematic sections African Newspaper Networks considers the work that newspaper editors did to relate events within their locality to happenings in far off places This work of correlation and juxtaposition made it possible for distant people to see themselves as fellow travellers Experiments with Genre explores how newspapers nurtured the development of new literary genres such as poetry realist fiction photoplays and travel writing in African languages and in English Newspapers and Their Publics looks at the ways in which African newspapers fostered the creation of new kinds of communities and served as networks for public interaction political and otherwise The final section Afterlives is about the longue durée of history that newspapers helped to structure and how throughout the twentieth century print allowed contributors to view their writing as material meant for posterity      Leveled Texts for Social Studies: World Cultures Through Time Debra J. Housel, 2007-04-16

With a focus on the world history and cultures a guide to using leveled texts to differentiate instruction in social studies offers fifteen different topics with high interest text written at four different reading levels accompanied by matching visuals and comprehension questions
