Islamism and Intelligence in South Asia Prem Mahadevan, 2018-05-10 State sponsorship of terrorism is a complex and important topic in today's international affairs and especially pertinent in the regional politics of the Middle East and South Asia where Pakistan has long been a flashpoint of Islamist politics and terrorism In Islamism and Intelligence in South Asia Prem Mahadevan demonstrates how over several decades radical Islamists sometimes with the tacit support of parts of the military establishment have weakened democratic governance in Pakistan and acquired progressively larger influence over policy making Mahadevan traces this history back to the anti colonial Deobandi movement which was born out of the post partition political atmosphere and a rediscovery of the thinking of Ibn Taymiyyah and partially ennobled the idea of jihad in South Asia as a righteous war against foreign oppression Using Pakistani media and academic sources for the bulk of its raw data and reinforcing this with scholarly analysis from Western commentators the book tracks Pakistan's trajectory towards a soft Islamic revolution Envisioned by the country's intelligence community as a solution to chronic governance failures these narratives called for a re-orientation away from South Asia and towards the Middle East In the process

Pakistan has become a sanctuary for Arab jihadist groups such as Al Qaeda who had no previous ethnic or linguistic connection with South Asia. Most alarmingly, official discourse on terrorism has been partly silenced by the military intelligence complex. The result is a slow drift towards extremism and possible legitimization of internationally proscribed terrorist organizations in Pakistan's electoral politics.

The Talibanization of Southeast Asia Bilveer Singh, 2007-10-30

Long before the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001 awakened the United States and the Western world to the heightened level of the terrorist threat, Southeast Asia had been dealing with this threat. The bombing in Bali that killed 202 people, many of them Australian tourists, was by no means the region's first experience with Islamic extremism, which can be traced back to the 1940s and the Darul Islam struggle. The most recent group to emerge is Al Jama'ah Al Islamiyah (AJAI), the most potent Islamic terrorist organization to date in the region and the group behind the Bali bombing. Understanding the process of Talibanization in Southeast Asia, which was once an oasis of moderate Islam in the modern world, is a key to unraveling the mystery of the increased radicalization in the region. Essentially, this involved the establishment of a political system that was more Islamic in character, either nationally or within a specific territory of a national state. This book analyzes the increasing Talibanization of Southeast Asia, a relatively new phenomenon that involves the adoption of Islamist doctrines, ideologies, and values that are largely militant in character and that for some groups includes the adoption of violence to achieve their goals. This has succeeded in posing one of the most serious security challenges to the region since the end of the Cold War. Jihadists are operating in small and localized cells, even though the broad goals remain the same: namely, to spread sharia, establish an Islamic state, and bring down secular regimes. As most governments do not have the credibility or the expertise to diminish the threat posed by Islamist extremism, Wahhabism, and Salafism, Southeast Asia is in danger of being Talibanized in the near future.

Regionalism and Regional Security in South Asia Zahid Shahab Ahmed, 2016-04-08

Zahid Shahab Ahmed evaluates the progress of the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC). This study goes beyond economic integration to present a detailed appraisal of cooperation under the overarching themes of economic cooperation, environmental security, human welfare, and cooperation in security matters. According to the author, SAARC is making progress in addressing the myriad of issues on its agenda. The transition from agreements to actions and frequent interactions among the member states has boosted confidence. The progress of SAARC is more evident in the less controversial areas of human security, such as poverty alleviation, health, and safety, human resources development, and higher education. Notwithstanding enthusiastic commitments reflected in agreements and action plans, there is a gulf between rhetoric and implementation, most notably in sensitive areas relating to traditional security. In the light of the findings of this study, the author proposes that greater cooperation in common human security areas has a potential to pave the way for a cooperation on issues of a contentious nature, particularly terrorism.

Old Muslim Calendars of Southeast Asia Ian Proudfoot, 2018-12-24 It has been said that a modern arrogance has blocked our access to the history of the Muslim calendar in Southeast Asia Without at least the outlines of that history we simply do not understand the basis of dates found in Malay sources Also without a history of Malay calendars we are denied an understanding of the context from which the Javanese Muslim calendar arose This volume the result of combining empirical evidence with a sound understanding of the structural requirements of calendar making and of the mechanisms through which these needs could be met for the first time explains how these old octaval calendars actually worked It traces the history of Muslim calendars in Southeast Asia and attempts to put them into their historical and cultural context Understanding the old calendars will at last throw light on a number of essential aspects of older Malay science and culture An accompanying interactive CD ROM presents the reader with a tool for converting Malay and Javanese dates with access to the range of variant calendars
