What's Changing: Population Size Or Land-use Patterns? Val Attenbrow,2007-02-01 The Upper Mangrove Creek catchment was an ideal locality in which to undertake field investigation into Aboriginal use of the coastal hinterland The area 101 square kilometres in size is rich in sites that provided significant archaeological evidence of Aboriginal use of the coastal hinterland The catchment became the focus of major archaeological salvage work in the late 1970s prior to the construction of the Mangrove Creek Dam Further research undertaken by Val Attenbrow on the total catchment expanded upon the results of earlier work This monograph describes the later research project and summarises the salvage program results This evidence is used by the author to explore current research issues relating to the interpretation of the mid to late Holocene archaeological record in Australia particularly quantitative changes relating to population numbers and aspects of human behaviour such as risk management subsistence mobility and land use patterns

The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2020 Stephen T. Garnett, G Barry Baker, 2021-12-01 The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2020 is the most comprehensive review of the status of Australia's avifauna ever attempted The latest in a series of action plans for Australian birds that have been produced every decade since 1992 it is also the largest The accounts in this plan have been authored by more than 300 of the most knowledgeable bird experts in the country and feature far more detail than any of the earlier plans This volume also includes accounts of over 60 taxa that are no longer considered threatened mainly thanks to sustained conservation action over many decades This extensive book covers key themes that have emerged in the last decade including the increasing impact of climate change as a threatening process most obviously in Queensland's tropical rainforests where many birds are being pushed up the mountains However the effects are also indirect as happened in the catastrophic fires of 2019 20 Many of the newly listed birds are subspecies confined to Kangaroo Island where fire destroyed over half the population But there are good news stories too especially on islands where there have been spectacular successes with predator control Such uplifting results demonstrate that when action plans are followed by action on the ground threatened species can indeed be recovered and threats alleviated
