general stores across the country survive as telling reminders of an important era in America's history. This fascinating new history of South Carolina's Allendale, Bamberg, Barnwell, Beaufort, Colleton, Hampton, and Jasper showcases more than two hundred of the best vintage postcards available from 1900 to the 1930s. South Carolina Postcards Howard Woody, 2001-04-01

In the heart of South Carolina lies Richland County, an area steeped in stories of conflict and resolution amidst America's formation. Home to Columbia, the present-day capital of South Carolina, Richland County has witnessed firsthand the state's growth and change as it has faced an ever-evolving palette of ideas and traditions. This new volume showcases over 200 postcards that illustrate early 20th-century South Carolina, highlighting the ways of life that still exist today and reminding readers of those that have since been abandoned. Who's Who in America Marquis Who's Who, Inc., 2002

South Carolina Postcards Howard Woody, Thomas L. Johnson, 2000-09-01

From the 1890s through the 1920s, the postcard was an extraordinarily popular means of communication, and many of the postcards produced during this golden age can today be considered works of art. A key link in the connection of South Carolina's four principal sections—the Piedmont, the Coastal Plain, the Pee Dee, and the Savannah River Valley—Lexington County has provided an abundance of images that serve as a microcosm of the state's growth and development during the first third of the twentieth century. This fascinating new history of Lexington County showcases more than two hundred of the best vintage postcards available and allows readers a nostalgic view into another way of life, a mirror of a bygone day in largely rural but diverse settings from The Fork in the southwest to the Dutch Fork in the northeast of the county. South Carolina Postcards Howard Woody, Allan D. Thigpen, 2005

Established in 1800 and located in the heart of South Carolina, Sumter County was named after the Revolutionary War hero Gen. Thomas Sumter, whose fighting spirit earned him the nickname "The Gamecock." The county has played an integral role in American history. Battles during both the Revolutionary and Civil Wars were fought in the area. Today, Sumter County has evolved from a rural agricultural society to a modern community with a thriving economy. Residents are proud to call Sumter home, celebrating the area's Southern culture and many recreational opportunities, including numerous golf courses and parks. This fascinating new volume on Sumter County captures the charm of its people, documenting the county's fascinating history in an engaging collection of historic images. South Carolina Postcards Howard Woody, Davie Beard, 2002-07-01

Located to the east of South Carolina's capital city of Columbia, Kershaw County contains some of the most historic localities within the Palmetto State. From the county seat of Camden, the state's oldest inland settlement, to Boykin, with its old-timey mill and broom factory, to Indian mounds and Revolutionary and Civil War battlefields, the Kershaw of today is a constant reminder of its flavorful past. South Carolina Postcards Howard Woody, Thomas L.
