Southern Caribbean:

An Assessment of the Leatherback Turtle Population in the Atlantic Ocean, 2007 Encyclopedia of the World's Coastal Landforms Eric Bird, 2010-02-25 This unique richly illustrated account of the landforms and geology of the world's coasts presented in a country by country state by state sequence assembles a vast amount of data and images of an endangered and increasingly populated and developed landform. An international panel of 138 coastal experts provides information on what is where on each sector of coast together with explanations of the landforms their evolution and the changes taking place on them. As well as providing details on the coastal features of each country state or county the compendium can be used to determine the extent of particular features along the world's coasts and to investigate comparisons and contrasts between various world regions. With more than 1440 color illustrations and photos it is particularly useful as a source of information prior to researching or just visiting a sector of coast. References are provided to the current literature on coastal evolution and coastline changes.

Activating the Past Andrew Apter, Lauren Derby, 2009-12-14 Activating the Past explores critical historical events and transformations associated with embodied memories in the Black Atlantic world. The assembled case studies disclose hidden historical references to local and regional encounters with Atlantic modernity focusing on religious festivals that represent political and economic relationships in fetishized forms of power and value. Although memories of the slave trade are rarely acknowledged in West Africa and the Americas they have retreated so to speak within ritual associations as restricted repressed even secret histories that are activated during public festivals and through different styles of spirit possession. In West Africa our focus on selected port cities along the coast extends into the hinterlands where slave raiding occurred but is poorly documented and rarely acknowledged. In the Caribbean regional contrasts between coastal and hinterland communities relate figures of the j baro the indio and the caboclo to their ritual representations in Santería Vodou and Candomblé. Highlighting the spatial association of memories with shrines and the ritual condensation of regional geographies we locate local spirits and domestic terrains within co-extensive Atlantic horizons. The volume brings together leading scholars of the African Diaspora who not only explore these ritual archives for significant echoes of the past but also illuminate a subaltern historiography embedded within Atlantic cultural systems.
