Race and Repast Urszula Niewiadomska-Flis, 2022-12-15 Race and Repast Foodscapes in Twentieth Century Southern Literature examines the literary foodscapes of the American South from Jim Crow era kitchens where White and Black Southerners reacted against racial mores to the public dining spaces where Southerners probed the limits of racial identity to the lunch counters that became touchstones of the Black Freedom movement Mining literary texts by iconic authors like Ernest Gaines and Walker Percy to demonstrate that food reflects and refracts power Urszula Niewiadomska Flis wields food studies as a revelatory lens through which to view a radically segregated society that was often on the cusp of violence Niewiadomska Flis also provides a rich and succinct introduction to scholarship in Southern studies and food studies making Race and Repast a compelling read that offers countless insights to experts as well as readers exploring these areas of research for the first time

The Geographies of African American Short Fiction Kenton Rambsy, 2022-03-25 Perhaps the brevity of short fiction accounts for the relatively scant attention devoted to it by scholars who have historically concentrated on longer prose narratives The Geographies of African American Short Fiction seeks to fill this gap by analyzing the ways African American short story writers plotted a diverse range of characters across multiple locations small towns a famous metropolis city sidewalks a rural wooded area apartment buildings a pond a general store a prison and more In the process these writers highlighted the extents to which places and spaces shaped or situated racial representations Presenting African American short story writers as cultural cartographers author Kenton Rambsy documents the variety of geographical references within their short stories to show how these authors make cultural spaces integral to their artwork and inscribe their stories with layered and resonant social histories The history of these short stories also documents the circulation of compositions across dozens of literary collections for nearly a century Anthology editors solidified the significance of a core group of short story authors including James Baldwin Toni Cade Bambara Charles Chesnutt Ralph Ellison Zora Neale Hurston and Richard Wright Using quantitative information and an extensive literary dataset The Geographies of African American Short Fiction explores how editorial practices shaped the canon of African American short fiction The American Civil War in British Culture Nimrod Tal,2015-07-28 This book explores the continuous British fascination with the American Civil War from the 1870s to the present Analysing the War's place in British political discourse military writing intellectual life and popular culture it traces the sources of Britons' appeal to the American conflict and their use of its representations at home and abroad

Postregional Fictions Clare Chadd,2021-07-07 Drawing from recent debates about the validity of regional studies and skepticism surrounding the efficacy of the concept of authenticity Clare Chadd's Postregional Fictions focuses on questions of southern regional authenticity in fiction published by Barry Hannah from 1972 to 2001 The first monograph on the Mississippi author's work to appear since his death this study considers the ways in which Hannah's novels and short stories challenge established conceptual understandings of the U S South Hannah's writing often features elements of metafiction through which the putative sense of southernness his stories dramatize is complicated by an intense self reflexivity about the extent to which a sense of place has never been foundational or essential but has always been constructed and performed Such texts locate a productive terrain between the local and the global with particular relevance for critical apprehensions of the post South and postsouthern literature Offering sustained close readings of selected stories and focusing especially on Hannah's late work Chadd argues that his fiction reveals the region constantly shifting in a process of mythmaking dialogue and performance In turn she uses Hannah's work to suggest how notions of the South and southernness might survive the various deconstructive approaches leveled against them in recent decades of southern studies scholarship Rather than seeing an impasse between the regional and the global Chadd's reading of Hannah shows the two existing and flourishing in tandem In Postregional Fictions Chadd offers a new interpretation of Hannah based on an appreciation of the vital intersection of southern and postmodern elements in his work Unpalatable Carrie Helms Tippen,2025-01-15 The cookbook genre is highly conventional with an orientation toward celebration and success From glossy photographs to heartwarming stories and adjective rich ingredient lists the cookbook tradition primes readers for pleasure Yet the overarching narrative of the region is often one of pain loss privation exploitation poverty and suffering of various kinds While some cookbook writers go to great lengths to avoid reminding readers of this painful past others invoke that pain as a marker of southern authenticity

Still others use stories of southern suffering as an opportunity to make space for reconciliation reparation or apology for past wrongs In Unpalatable Stories of Pain and Pleasure in Southern Cookbooks author Carrie Helms Tippen attempts to understand the unique rhetorical situation of the southern cookbook as it negotiates a tension between the expectations of the genre and the prevailing metanarratives of the southern experience one focused on pleasure and the other rooted in pain Through an analysis of commercially published southern cookbooks from the 1990s to the present Tippen examines the range of rhetorical purposes and strategies writers have employed some of which undermine the reality of a painful past and cause harm or violence and others which serve as tools for truth and reconciliation studies American studies American literary studies and cultural studies Frankenstein Was a Vegetarian Michael Owen Jones, 2022-06-27 In Frankenstein Was a Vegetarian: Essays on Food Choice, Identity, and Symbolism Michael Owen Jones tackles topics often overlooked in foodways. At the outset he notes it was Victor Frankenstein's daemon in Mary Shelley's novel that advocated vegetarianism, not the scientist whose name has long been attributed to his creature. Jones explains how we communicate through what we eat, the connection between food choice and who we are or want to appear to be, the ways that many of us self-medicate moods with foods and the nature of disgust. He presents fascinating case studies of religious bigotry and political machinations triggered by rumored bans on pork, the last meal requests of prisoners about to be executed, and the Utopian vision of Percy Bysshe Shelley, one of England's greatest poets, that was based on a vegetable diet like the creature's meals in Frankenstein. Jones also scrutinizes how food is used and abused on the campaign trail, how gender issues arise when food meets politics, and how eating preferences reflect the personalities and values of politicians, one of whom was elected president and then impeached twice. Throughout the book, Jones deals with food as symbol as well as analyzes the link between food choice and multiple identities. Aesthetics, morality, and politics likewise loom large in his inquiries. In the final two chapters, Jones applies these concepts to overhauling penal policies and practices that make food part of the pains of imprisonment and looks at transforming the counseling of diabetes patients, who number in the millions.

The Tribal Culture of India Lalita Prasad Vidyarthi, Binay Kumar Rai, 1977 Rituals and Ceremonies in Popular Culture Ray Broadus Browne, 1980 This collection of essays examines various rituals and ceremonies in American popular culture, including architecture, religion, television, viewing, humor, eating, and dancing. Culture and Rural-Urban Revitalisation in South Africa Mziwoxolo Sirayi, Modimowabarwa Kanyane, Giulio Verdini, 2021-06-14 This book captures ground-breaking attempts to utilise culture in territorial development and regeneration processes in the context of South Africa and our new normal brought by COVID-19, the fourth industrial revolution, and climate change. The importance of culture in rural-urban revitalisation has been underestimated in South Africa and the African continent at large. Despite some cultural initiatives that are still at developmental stages in big cities such as Johannesburg, eThekweni, and Cape Town, there is concern about the absence of sustainable policies and plans to support culture, creativity, and indigenous knowledge at national and municipal levels. Showcasing alternative strategies for making culture central to development, this book discusses opportunities to shift culture and indigenous knowledge from the peripheries and place them at the epicentre of sustainable development and the mainstream of cultural planning, which can then be applied in the contexts of Africa and the Global South. Governmental institutions, research councils, civil society organisations, private sector, and higher education institutions come together in a joint effort to explain the nexus between culture, economic development, rural-urban linkages, grassroots, and technological innovations. Culture and Rural-Urban Revitalization in South Africa is an ideal read for those interested in rural and urban planning, cultural policy, indigenous knowledge, and smart rural village model. World War II

Historical Reenactment in Poland Kamila Baraniecka-Olszewska, 2021-10-21 This book explores the consequences of the latest political shifts in Central Eastern Europe the rise of right wing parties and among other things politics becoming more invested in history These phenomena coincide and overlap with the democratisation of history by turning the past into a hot topic persistently present in the public sphere and often evoking strong emotions Ethnographic research conducted in 2012 2016 focusing on how World War II reenactors experience the past serves as the basis to analyse the ways in which the group uses the widespread often institutionalised interest in history to on the one hand become involved in debates on World War II and the remembrance thereof and on the other to authentically experience this past The volume therefore analyses how physical the process of creating and experiencing grassroots visions of the past is and how these visions interact with the public discourse about the past Reenactors ability to marry the often contradictory orders of historical truth authenticity and representation is explored Moreover Baraniecka Olszewska analyses how the reenactors overcome various obstacles on their way towards authentic experiences performing history through their bodies
