Appropriations for 2003 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Dept. of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations, 2002 Nuclear Decommissioning Michele Laraia, 2012-02-21 Once a nuclear installation has reached the end of its safe and economical operational lifetime the need for its decommissioning arises Different strategies can be employed for nuclear decommissioning based on the evaluation of particular hazards and their attendant risks as well as on the analysis of costs of clean up and waste management This allows for decommissioning either soon after permanent shutdown or perhaps a long time later the latter course allowing for radioactivity levels to drop in any activated or contaminated components It is crucial for clear processes and best practices to be applied in decommissioning such installations and sites particular where any significant health and environmental risks exist This book critically reviews the nuclear decommissioning processes and technologies applicable to nuclear power plants and other civilian nuclear facilities Part one focuses on the fundamental planning issues in starting a nuclear decommissioning process from principles and safety regulations to financing and project management Part two covers the execution phase of nuclear decommissioning projects detailing processes and technologies such as dismantling decontamination and radioactive waste management as well as environmental remediation site clearance and reuse Finally part three details international experience in the decommissioning of nuclear applications including the main nuclear reactor types and nuclear fuel cycle facilities as well as small nuclear facilities and legacy nuclear waste sites Critically reviews nuclear decommissioning processes and technologies applicable to nuclear power plants and other civilian nuclear facilities Discusses the fundamental planning issues in starting a nuclear decommissioning process Considers the execution phase of nuclear decommissioning projects including dismantling decontamination and radioactive waste management as well as environmental remediation site clearance and reuse
