Six Bob A Day Tourist:

The Great War Ian F. W. Beckett, 2014-01-14 The course of events of the Great War has been told many times spurred by an endless desire to understand the war to end all wars However this book moves beyond military narrative to offer a much fuller analysis of the conflict's strategic political economic social and cultural impact Starting with the context and origins of the war including assassination misunderstanding and differing national war aims it then covers the treacherous course of the conflict and its social consequences for both soldiers and civilians for science and technology for national politics and for pan European revolution The war left a long term legacy for victors and vanquished alike It created new frontiers changed the balance of power and influenced the arts national memory and political thought The reach of this account is global showing how a conflict among European powers came to involve their colonial empires and embraced Japan China the Ottoman Empire Latin America and the United States

Proximity and Distance Romain Fathi, Emily Robertson, 2020-04-28 The global magnitude of World War I has meant that proximity and distance were highly influential in the ways the conflict was conducted and how it was experienced at tactical political and emotional levels This book explores how participants and observers in World War I negotiated the temporal and spatial challenges of the conflict International in scope it investigates how technology mass media elite diplomacy and imperial networks interacted in conjunction with proximity and distance The authors canvass a range of approaches to the conflict from cultural history to social political and military history Proximity and distance were contingencies that participants had to continually adapt to This book documents the ways in which these adaptations were approached

'Boredom is the Enemy' Amanda Laugesen, 2016-04-15 War is often characterised as one percent terror 99 per cent boredom Whilst much ink has been spilt on the one per cent relatively little work has been directed toward the other 99 per cent of a soldier's time As such this book will be welcomed by those seeking a fuller understanding of what makes soldiers endure war and how they cope with prolonged periods of inaction It explores the issue of military boredom and investigates how soldiers spent their time when not engaged in battle work or training through a study of their creative imaginative and intellectual lives It examines the efforts of military authorities to provide solutions to military boredom and the problem of discipline and morale through the provisioning of entertainment and education but more importantly explores the ways in which soldiers responded to such efforts arguing that soldiers used entertainment and education in ways that suited them The focus in the book is on Australians and their experiences primarily during the First World War but with subsequent chapters taking the story through the Second World War to the Vietnam War This focus on a single national group allows questions to be raised about what might or might not be exceptional about the experiences of a particular national group and the ways national identity can shape an individual's relationship and engagement with education and entertainment It can also suggest the continuities and changes in these experiences through the course of three wars The story of Australians at war illuminates a much broader story of the experience of war and people's responses to war in the twentieth century      On The War-path Peter Pierce, Robin Gerster, 2016-10-18 This important anthology reveals the many ways in which going to war has formed a cultural bridge between Australia and the world From the Sudan in 1885 to Afghanistan in 2001 the connection of war to travel is illustrated in the observations of writers as varied as Banjo Paterson George Johnston Nancy Wake John Pilger Lily Brett and Peter Weir Selecting writings from combatants abroad as well as the reflections of sightseers who travel to foreign battlefields and war sites Robin Gerster and Peter Pierce reveal how the experience of war has both broadened and refined and sometimes distorted Australian views of the world Their lively collection crosses the boundaries between literature literary criticism travel writing war writing and cultural commentary      Selections from the Writings of Tohunga (William Lane) William Lane, 1917      Historian's Conscience Stuart Macintyre, 2016-10-18 Eminent contributors include Alan Atkinson Graeme Davison Greg Denning John Hirst Beverley Kingston Marilyn Lake and Iain McCalman They not only ask but answer the hard questions about writing and researching history How do historians choose their histories What sort of emotional investment do they make in their subjects and how do they control their sympathies How do they deal with unpalatable discoveries To whom are historians responsible And for whom are they entitled to speak Intellectually provocative often personally revealing always engaged The Historian's Conscience is a must read      APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service ,      Finding Gallipoli Brad West, 2022-04-28 This book is about how Australian and Turkish historical understanding of the First World War Gallipoli Campaign has been shaped by travel to the battlefield for the purposes of commemoration Utilizing a cultural historical method the study begins with examining how cultural conceptions of travel influenced the experience of those fighting in the 1915 Battle and ends with the way that new global insecurities and the withdrawal of Western troops from Afghanistan in 2021 is reflecting and influencing Australia and Turkey's social memory of their military past This wide historical lens and the author's original fieldwork and analysis of documents allows for an in depth exploration of the ways in which cultural patterns of social memory develop over time and mapping of how specific cultural representations in the past are reclaimed The book argues that travel is a key factor influencing social change by providing distinctive ritual experiences that afford unique discursive opportunities and empowering particular carriers and custodians of social memory

WILTSHIRE AND THE GREAT WAR T. S. Crawford, 2012-08-01 Soon after the start of the Great War work hastily began on a series of huddled camps in Wiltshire for more than 100 000 men and during the course of the war it became home to troops from Canada Australia and New Zealand as well as Britain With soldiers forming a third of the population the effect on the businesses farms and indeed the morals of the county was dramatic Even after the Armistice peace did not return with mutinies and rioting in the camps because of frustration at delays in demobilization Wiltshire and the Great War describes this turbulent fascinating period in depth It describes pre war training showing how inappropriate it was to future warfare outlines the pioneering of military aviation in the county and describes the role of railways in moving tens of thousands of troops There are accounts of shirkers spies escaped prisoners of war prostitutes the landship that clanked across the county and the wireless station that pinpointed the position of Zeppelins Also described are advances in military technology the camp building scandals that led to an inquiry by a Royal Commission press censorship and the blighting of the Stonehenge landscape Over the Top (Volume 3 of 3) (EasyRead Super Large 24pt Edition) , The Biggest Estate on Earth Bill Gammage,2011-10-01 Publisher s description Across Australia early Europeans commented again and again that the land looked like a park With extensive grassy patches and pathways open woodlands and abundant wildlife it evoked a country estate in England Bill Gammage has discovered this was because Aboriginal people managed the land in a far more systematic and scientific fashion than we have ever realised For over a decade Gammage has examined written and visual records of the Australian landscape He has uncovered an extraordinarily complex system of land management using fire and the life cycles of native plants to ensure plentiful wildlife and plant foods throughout the year We know Aboriginal people spent far less time and effort than Europeans in securing food and shelter and now we know how they did it With details of land management strategies from around Australia The Biggest Estate on Earth rewrites the history of this continent with huge implications for us today Once Aboriginal people were no longer able to tend their country it became overgrown and vulnerable to the hugely damaging bushfires we now experience And what we think of as virgin bush in a national park is nothing of the kind Melbourne Historical Journal ,1985 Ordinary Men, Extraordinary Service Chris Lowndes,2011 The World War One experiences of the 9th Battalion Queensland AIF Reflections of the Gallipoli Campaign The men of the 9th Battalion a Queensland based unit of the AIF were among the very first wave of volunteers to enlist for war service in what was initially thought of as the great adventure with their mates following the outbreak of World War 1 For these young men reality would soon see their world turn upside down Chris follows this Battalion of brave men through their experiences recounting the lives of individual men within the battalion obtained from diary and service records This book also take time to present in a well paced manner the military strategy and planning behind the Gallipoli campaign To Win the Battle Robert Stevenson,2012-10-05 In 1915 the 1st Australian Division led the way ashore at Gallipoli In 1916 it achieved the first Australian victory on the Western Front at Pozieres It was still serving with distinction in the battles that led to the defeat of the German army in 1918 To Win the Battle explains how the division rose from obscurity to forge a reputation as one of the great fighting formations of the British Empire during the First World War forming a central part of the Anzac legend Drawing on primary sources as well as recent scholarship this fresh approach suggests that the early reputation of Australia s premier division was probably higher than its performance warranted Robert Stevenson shows that the division s later success was founded on the capacity of its commanders to administer train and adapt to the changing conditions on the battlefield rather than on the innate qualities of its soldiers Over the Top (Volume 2 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 18pt Edition) , Our Friend the Enemy David W. Cameron,2014-10-01 Our Friend the Enemy is the first detailed history of the Gallipoli campaign at Anzac since Charles Bean's Official History Viewed from both sides of the wire and described in first hand accounts Australian Captain Herbert Layh recounted that as they approached the beach on 25 April that once we were behind cover the Turks turned their fire on us and gave us a lively 10 minutes A poor chap next to me was hit three times He begged me to shoot him but luckily for him a fourth bullet got him and put him out of his pain Later that day Sergeant Charles Saunders a New Zealand engineer described his first taste of battle The Turks were entrenched some 50 100 yards from the edge of the face of the gully and their machine guns swept the edges Line after line of our men went up some lines didn't take two paces over the crest when down they went to a man and on came another line Gunner Recep Trudal of the Turkish 27th Regiment wrote of the fierce Turkish counter attack on 19 May designed to push the Anzac's back into the sea It started at morning prayer call time and then it went on and on never stopped You know there was no break for eating or anything Attack was our command That was what the Pasha said Once he says Attack you attack and you either die or you survive

Jimmy Sharman's Boxers Stephen McGrath, 2023-10-04 Jimmy Sharman is a conundrum Raised in a large poor catholic family becoming a tent boxer at age eleven He blinds another boxer and is racked by guilt for the rest of his life yet develops an extremely profitable and popular showground fixture We learn about Sharman's boxing tent spruiking his unconventional business habits his furious temper his leadership and diplomacy Sharman was twenty seven and medically fit when the war started We learn the real life stories of several indigenous boxers who were openly defiant against the intense racism they encountered We meet clumsy Billy Grimes the flat foot kid who went on to win several Australian titles We see an unlikely friendship develop between Rud Kee a Chinese boxer and Sharman As losses at Gallipoli and the Western Front grow townspeople begin to question why a troupe of young men is fighting for profit while others are dying Soon there are few men left Sharman struggles to find challengers recruitment propaganda and white feather campaigns intensify The conscription plebiscites bitterly divide Australia Then great personal tragedy visits Archie and the troupe This story is the result of a remarkable new discovery in Australian history a true story about how Jimmy Sharman navigated his Boxing Troupe throughout the First World War despite the war fervour the conscription debate pressure to enlist accusations of cowardice and the tragic loss of so many to the war itself Based on extensive research of real people and real events this story tells how Jimmy Sharman managed to continue to tour throughout the war and created an unbeatable boxing troupe of White Chinese and indigenous boxers training them to be the most famous of all the Australian Travelling Boxing Troupes This is an incredible true and uniquely Australian story it is beautifully told giving us deep insight into the struggles of extraordinary people in extraordinary times Stephen McGrath's tireless research underpins this reanimation of a key chapter in Australia's social cultural and sporting history Much can be learned from revisiting the rollicking days of Jimmy Sharman's troupe traversing geographic racial and social frontiers Micheal Winkler Author of Grimmish short listed for the Miles Franklin Literary Award in 2022

fresh account of the Anzac myth and the bittersweet emotional experience of Gallipoli tourists Challenging the straightforward view of the Anzac obsession as a kind of nationalistic military Halloween it shows how transnational developments in tourism and commemoration have created the conditions for a complex dissonant emotional experience of sadness humility anger pride and empathy among Anzac tourists Drawing on the in depth testimonies of travellers from Australia and New Zealand McKay shines a new and more complex light on the history and cultural politics of the Anzac myth As well as making a ground breaking empirically based intervention into the culture wars this book offers new insights into the global memory boom and transnational developments in backpacker tourism sports tourism and dark or dissonant tourism

A Guide to British Military History Ian F. W. Beckett, 2016-06-30 What exactly is military history Forty years ago it meant battles campaigns great commanders drums and trumpets It was largely the preserve of military professionals and was used to support national history and nationalism Now though the study of war has been transformed by the war and society approach by the examination of identity memory and gender and a less Euro centric and more global perspective Generally it is recognised that war and conflict must be integrated into the wider narrative of historical development and this is why Ian Becketts research guide is such a useful tool for anyone working in this growing field It introduces students to all the key debates issues and resources While European and global perspectives are not neglected there is an emphasis on the British experience of war since 1500 This survey of British military history will be essential reading and reference for anyone who has a professional or amateur interest in the subject and it will be a valuable introduction for newcomers to it

Afterlives of war Michael Roper, 2023-07-05 Afterlives of war documents the lives and historical pursuits of the generations who grew up in Australia Britain and Germany after the First World War Although they were not direct witnesses to the conflict they experienced its effects from their earliest years Based on ninety oral history interviews and observation during the First World War Centenary this pioneering study reveals the contribution of descendants to the contemporary memory of the First World War and the intimate personal legacies of the conflict that animate their history making
