Berson, 2010-08-04 I Have a Story to Tell You is about Eastern European Jewish immigrants living in Montreal Toronto and Winnipeg in the early twentieth century The stories encompass their travels and travails on leaving home and their struggles in the sweatshops and factories of the garment industry in Canada Basing her work on extensive interviews Seemah Berson recreates these immigrants stories about their lives in the Old Country and the hardship of finding work in Canada and she tells how many of these newcomers ended up in the needle trades Revealing a fervent sense of socialist ideology acquired in the crucible of the Russian Revolution the stories tell of the influence of Jewish culture and traditions of personal and organized fights against exploitation and of struggles to establish unions for better working conditions This book is a wonderful resource for teachers of Canadian Jewish and social history as well as auto biography and cultural studies The simplicity of the language transcribed from oral reports makes this work

The Epistemology of Reading and Interpretation René van Woudenberg, 2021-09-16
Reading and textual interpretation are ordinary human activities performed inside as well as outside academia but precisely how they function as unique sources of knowledge is not well understood In this book Ren van Woudenberg explores the nature of reading and how it is distinct from perception and attending to testimony which are two widely acknowledged knowledge sources After distinguishing seven accounts of interpretation van Woudenberg discusses the question of whether all reading inevitably involves interpretation and shows that although reading and interpretation often go together they are distinct activities He goes on to argue that both reading and interpretation can be paths to realistically conceived truth and explains the conditions under which we are justified in believing that they do indeed lead us to the truth Along the way he offers clear and novel analyses of reading meaning interpretation and interpretative knowledge
