The Terminal Man Alfred Mehran, Andrew Donkin, 2004 The Terminal Man is the extraordinary story of Mehran Karimi Nasseria better known as Sir Alfred of Charles de Gaulle Airport airport s Terminal One building trapped in international no man s land without the proper documentation needed to move on he received an even greater shock when the woman he regarded as his mother told him he wasn t her son but the result of a union between his father and a British nurse A deal was agreed for Sir Alfred to disappear overseas to England and his family would pay for his studies After a year at university his family broke all contact and he returned to Iran where he was imprisoned for his political activism was arrested and tortured He was then expelled from Iran with a passport valid for just one year so he was now a stateless person his documents He boarded a plane to London but without the appropriate documentation was sent straight back to Paris On trying to leave the airport he was arrested and sentenced as an illegal immigrant and served six months in jail to enter any other country Fearing arrest if he left the terminal building but unable to board a flight he was trapped there for years newspapers and magazines stored in cargo boxes and his extensive diary As Sir Alfred remained trapped between countries his fame began to spread There have been numerous press and magazines articles around the globe he receives hundreds of letters from well wishers as well as his visits and has also featured in three documentary feature films about his plight as the world's only celebrity homeless person media magnet and most of all delayed passenger The Terminal Man tells Sir Alfred's incredible and unique life story in his own words The

Biochemistry of Glycoproteins and Proteoglycans William Lennarz, 2012-12-06 Although glycoproteins and proteoglycans have been a subject of research for many years it is only during the last five or so years that they have aroused the interest of a very broad cross section of investigators in the biological sciences The reason for this expanded interest in these molecules is simple not only are glycoproteins and proteoglycans ubiquitous but many are molecules with well defined and important biological functions The list of molecules that fall into this category grows daily interferon immunoglobulins certain hormones many cell surface receptors and viral coat proteins are but a few examples Thus investigators with interests as diverse as viral replication cell cell interactions poly isoprenoid synthesis secretory processes hormone responses embryonic development and immunology have become concerned with glycoproteins and proteoglycans The objective of this book is to summarize the current state of knowledge on the biochemistry of these molecules Coverage is by no means encyclopedic rather the thrust is to emphasize the recent advances The first chapter deals primarily with structural work on the oligosaccharide chains of glycoproteins but it will be apparent in it and in the succeeding two chapters on biosynthesis that not only do structural studies aid biosynthetic investigations but that studies on biosynthesis often play a major role in elucidation of structure Brainwashing David Seed, 2004

An examination of the literary and cinematic representations of brainwashing during the Cold War era CIA operative who was a tireless campaigner against communism it took hold quickly and became a means to articulate fears of totalitarian tendencies in American life David Seed traces the assimilation of the notion of brainwashing into science fiction political commentary and conspiracy narratives of the Cold War era He demonstrates how these works grew out of a context of political and social events and how they express the anxieties of the time The Manchurian Candidate Seed provides new interpretations of writers such as Orwell and Burroughs within the history of psychological manipulation for political purposes using declassified and other documents to contextualise the material he explores the shifting viewpoints of how brainwashing is represented changing from an external threat to American values to an internal threat against individual American liberties by the U S government will welcome this study

Anticarbohydrate Antibodies Paul Kosma, Sven Müller-Loennies, 2011-11-27 Many pathogens and aberrant malignant cells express unique carbohydrates on their surface representing attractive targets for vaccine design Considerable progress has recently been made in the identification of novel carbohydrate based vaccines and a large number has reached clinical phase studies The success of several licensed carbohydrate based vaccines against bacterial pathogens such as Haemophilus influenzae type b Neisseria meningitidis or Streptococcus pneumoniae demonstrates their great potential However the study of anti carbohydrate antibodies is technically challenging and partly because of low affinities and promiscuous specificity they have not been medically exploited to full potential The study of antibody specificities and identification of protective carbohydrate epitopes lies at the heart of successful vaccine design In addition to therapy antibodies in general serve as diagnostic tools in medical and scientific laboratories In this setting high affinity and exquisite specificity are important factors for their successful use Anticarbohydrate Antibodies from molecular basis to clinical application compiles current knowledge on the immunological recognition of carbohydrates by the adaptive immune system from a molecular perspective providing fundamental insight needed for advancing clinically relevant diagnostics and therapeutic applications Based on significant progress in the fields of glycoimmunology and structural biology in recent years the book comprehensively reviews the state of the art in defining the key elements of carbohydrate recognition by antibodies the molecular mimicry of carbohydrate epitopes as well as the molecular features leading to specific and relaxed binding modes Backed up by a combination of modern technologies to elucidate structural details of carbohydrate antibody interactions biomedically important carbohydrate antigens from viral bacterial parasite insect and tumor cells have been analyzed in in depth reviews written by well known experts in the field Fundamental knowledge of these molecular mechanisms eventually provides a rational basis to improve efficacy of carbohydrate based vaccines and to further refine diagnostic tools in detection of pathogens and malignant cells
