Tempest and sunshine Mary J. Holmes, Donald A. Koch, 1968      The Bookman ,1913      A Mirror for History Marc Egnal, 2024-04-19 In A Mirror for History author Marc Egnal uses novels and art to provide a new understanding of American society. The book argues that the arc of middle class culture reflects the evolution of the American economy from the near subsistence agriculture of the 1750s to the extraordinarily unequal society of the twenty first century. Fiction offers a rich source for this analysis. By delving deep into the souls of characters and their complex worlds, novels shed light on the dreams, hopes, and goals of individuals and reveal the structures that shape character's lives. Additionally, paintings of the time periods expand upon these insights drawn from literature. Egnal's lively exploration of the changing economy, fiction, art, and American values is organized into four expansive periods: the Sentimental Era, Genteel America, Modern Society, and Post Modern America. Within that framework, A Mirror for History looks at topics such as masculinity, childhood, the status of women, the outlook of African Americans, the role of religion, and varying views of capitalism. Readers will be enthralled to find discussions of overlooked novels and paintings as well as discover new approaches to familiar pieces. A Mirror for History examines over one hundred authors and dozens of artists, and their works presented here in full color.      Womanhood in Anglophone Literary Culture Robin Hammerman, 2009-03-26 Taken together, the fourteen essays in this collection contribute to the discourse of social conditions for literary women. The essays examine relevant social, intellectual, and professional questions about the ways in which women writers contributed to conceptions of womanhood in nineteenth and twentieth century Anglophone literary culture. Contributors to this collection describe and examine several nineteenth and twentieth century women writers' responses to patriarchal assumptions about literary merit in genres including poetry and fiction. Womanhood in Anglophone Literary Culture: Nineteenth and Twentieth Century Perspectives will be of special interest to students and faculty of women's studies and literature written in the English language.      To Kiss the Chastening Rod Geoffrey M. Goshgarian, 2019-04-15 Examining ideas about masturbation, female sexuality, the family, and post-Calvinist religion that shaped the readership of popular women's fiction, To Kiss the Chastening Rod shows that passionlessness was the privileged theme of a pervasive discourse which sought to exert social control through the rigorous repression, minute supervision, and covert cultivation of sexuality.      Henry James and the 'Woman Business' Alfred Habegger, 2004-08-26 This is a historical critique of Henry James in relation to nineteenth century feminism and women's fiction. Habegger has brought to light extensive new documentation on James's tangled connections with what was thought and written about women in his time. The emphasis is equally on his life and on his fictions. This is the first book to investigate his father's bizarre lifelong struggle with free love and feminism, a struggle that played a major role in shaping James. The book also shows how seriously he distorted the truth about the cousin Minnie Temple, whose self-assertive image inspired him, and how indebted he was to certain American women writers whom he attacked in reviews but whose plots and heroines he appropriated in his own fiction     The Portrayal of Woman's Sentimental Power in American Domestic Fiction Earl Frank Yarrington, 2007 This book explores the rediscovery of the fiction written by Mary Jane Holmes 1825-1907 and examines the contrasting factors that made her work popular in the nineteenth century but virtually unknown during the twentieth century Cultural poetics and feminism which established a critique on how late nineteenth and twentieth century critics decontextualized Holmes work is the critical emphasis of this study The theory of this study examines aspects of relational capacity that popular women writers present and that which their works are based on and which enables them to relate to their culture and readers

American Women's Fiction, 1790-1870 Barbara A. White, 2013-05-07 An annotated bibliography on women who wrote fiction in the US during the period 1790-1870 The first part is an annotated list of sources that discuss women's fiction in the period and women authors born before 1840 who published before 1870 The second part is an alphabetical list of the approximately 325 19th century writers who meet those criteria There are indexes by pseudonym editor and subject The sources provide information not only about the individual authors but also about the history of criticism and literary politics especially women's place in the American literary canon

Gender, Fantasy, and Realism in American Literature Alfred Habegger, 1982 In this study of the 19th century American novel the author demonstrates the imaginative continuity between sentimental and realistic fiction and sets out to establish that realism is the central and preeminent literary type in America a mode grounded in the tradition of women's popular fiction which shaped the nation's reading habits in the mid 19th century He examines this feminine literature with its common technique of symbolizing deeper social conflicts through patterns of courtship marriage and gender roles Contends that Howells and James owe much of their fictional domain to the often disparaged household dramas of these female precursors
