

The background of the cover is a painting depicting four individuals in professional clothing—two men and two women—gathered around a table, intently studying a large document. The style is somewhat abstract and expressive, with visible brushstrokes. In the upper portion of the image, a city skyline with several buildings is visible under a hazy sky. The overall color palette is dominated by blues, greys, and earthy tones, giving it a serious, corporate feel.

Successful Implementation Of Concurrent Engineering Products And Processes:

Successful Implementation of Concurrent Engineering Products and Processes Sammy G. Shina, 1993-12-16 This working guide shows how to put concurrent engineering principles into action using actual case examples from large and small companies The case study approach is augmented with detailed advice and techniques for measuring and analyzing product and process development data A must have reference for every designer and firm that plans or contemplates this efficient and profitable method Concurrent Design of Products, Manufacturing Processes and Systems Ben Wang, 1999-01-27 Methods presented involve the use of simulation and modeling tools and virtual workstations in conjunction with a design environment This allows a diverse group of researchers manufacturers and suppliers to work within a comprehensive network of shared knowledge The design environment consists of engineering workstations and servers and a suite of simulation quantitative computational analytical qualitative and experimental tools Such a design environment will allow the effective and efficient integration of complete product design manufacturing process design and customer satisfaction predictions This volume enables the reader to create an integrated concurrent engineering design and analysis infrastructure through the use of virtual workstations and servers provide remote instant sharing of engineering data and resources for the development of a product system mechanism part business and or process and develop applications fully compatible with international CAD CAM CAE standards for product representation and modeling

Integrated Product, Process and Enterprise Design Ben Wang, 2012-12-06 The need exists in the private sector and government manufacturing sites to reduce product development time production lead times inventory and non value added activities At the same time there is increased pressure to improve manufacturing process yields production efficiency and resource utilization Much of the technology required to meet these needs already exists but an integrated structure that can demonstrate the potential for the technology in a concurrent engineering context does not This book provides a road map for building the integrated technology environment to evaluate existing products manufacturing processes and system design tools This book details innovative approaches that will significantly improve design manufacturing technology development and deployment capabilities for civilian and defense applications These approaches are integrated product process and system design IPPSD initiatives which will greatly enhance the manufacturing competitiveness of the economy These approaches involve the use of simulation modeling tools and computerized virtual workstations in conjunction with a design environment which allows a diverse group of researchers manufacturers and suppliers to work within a comprehensive network of shared knowledge The IPPSD infrastructure consists of virtual workstations servers and a suite of simulation quantitative computational analytical experimental and qualitative tools Such an IPPSD infrastructure will permit effective and efficient predictions of complete product design manufacturing process design and customer satisfaction
