Boris Baltes, Margret M. Baltes, 1993-05-28 More and more people live into old age This demographic revolution underscores the fact that old age is the last uncharted and unattended phase of the life cycle The Study of Human Development

Richard A. Settersten Jr., Megan M. McClelland, 2018-10-18 If you had just one wish for the study of human development what would it be How would it advance the field And what would it take for your vision to be realized This was the charge given to twenty eight scholars coming from different disciplines and fields and who study different periods of the life course This book compiles provocative contributions from a wide range of established scholars organized into seven thematic areas conceptual advances systems levels and contexts individual differences methodological advances harnessing science for human welfare and social justice underexplored life course dynamics and interdisciplinary collaboration and playing well with others This book was originally published as a special issue of Research in Human Development Risk and Resilience in Human Development Corey L.M. Keyes, 2018-12-07 This special issue is devoted to the topic of risk and resilience in human development a topic that epitomizes the complexity of human development as a process of constancy and change throughout life The three empirical papers in this issue represent strong contributions to the growing corpus of research on risk and resilience in human development The first one focuses on the uniquely vulnerable population of urban ethnic minority adolescent males The second paper focuses on the risk and resilience from trauma in a sample of mostly Caucasian individuals from rural Iowa who were at the last assessment in the midst of transition into young adulthood It measures an array of mental disorders outcomes and reveals the theoretical importance of timing of the risk factor The last paper is a study begun in 1978 of a cohort of individuals with serious adolescent onset mental disorder It compares these individuals against the risk and resilience profiles of a matched sample without serious adolescent onset psychiatric disorder In sum this issue adds to the corpus of the frontiers of resilience research

Aging and Development Peter G. Coleman,Ann

O'Hanlon,2017-02-03 The psychology of aging usually focuses upon cognitive changes with a particular focus on dementia and other forms of cognitive decline But getting older is about more than simply changes to the brain and related health issues Changes to our social and emotional lives are also hugely significant as we adapt across our lifespan The second edition of Aging and Development is the only textbook available that responds to the growing interest in social personal and emotional development in older age Ideally suited to complement texts on cognitive change the book provides a holistic developmental perspective on aging It highlights a range of issues including the development of personal meaning and spirituality improvements in emotional control uses of reminiscence and life review the importance of healthy attitudes to aging as well as the maintenance of close personal relationships It does not avoid the difficult issues of late life decline but illustrates how even in circumstances of physical and mental frailty a positive sense of self can be created and enhanced Fully updated to provide the most cutting edge overview on this burgeoning topic of interest Aging and Development includes a glossary and list of useful websites both on the study of gerontology and the psychology of aging It will be essential reading for all students of developmental psychology as well as anyone either training to work or already working with older people

Clinician's Handbook of Adult Behavioral Assessment Michel Hersen, 2011-04-28 Given the vast amount of research related to behavioral assessment it is difficult for clinicians to keep abreast of new developments In recent years there have been advances in assessment case conceptualization treatment planning treatment strategies for specific disorders and considerations of new ethical and legal issues Keeping track of advances requires monitoring diverse resources limited to specific disorders many of which are theoretical rather than practical or that offer clinical advice without providing the evidence base for treatment recommendations This handbook was created to fill this gap summarizing critical information for adult behavioral assessment The Clinician s Handbook of Adult Behavioral Assessment provides a single source for understanding new developments in this field cutting across strategies techniques and disorders Assessment strategies are presented in context with the research behind those strategies along with discussions of clinical utility and how assessment and conceptualization fit in with treatment planning The volume is organized in three sections beginning with general issues followed by evaluations of specific disorders and problems and closing with special issues To ensure cross chapter consistency in the coverage of disorders these chapters are formatted to contain an introduction assessment strategies research basis clinical utility conceptualization and treatment planning a case study and summary Special issue coverage includes computerized assessment evaluating older adults behavioral neuropsychology ethical legal issues work related issues and value change in adults with acquired disabilities Suitable for beginning and established clinicians in practice this handbook will provide a ready reference toward effective adult behavioral assessment

Contextual Influences on Life Span/life Course Jacquelynne S. Eccles, 2018-12-07 This special issue covers different aspects of life course development The central argument of the first paper is that human development should be viewed as the product of the interpenetration of cultural and biological processes The following article outlines how current sociology constructs life courses The notion of developmental biocultural co constructivism and specifically the zone within which human development can be expressed is the focus of the third paper Next a developmental account of civic engagement and political participation is provided Finally the special issue concludes with a paper marking individual differences in patterns of rhesus monkey biobehavioral development through the life span
