Speechwriting in Perspective Thomas H. Neale, Jean M. Bowers, 2003 Writing for the spoken word is a special discipline it requires that speechwriters products be written primarily although not exclusively to be heard not read Speeches are better cast in simple direct and often short sentences that can be easily understood by listeners Rhetorical devices such as repetition variation cadence and balance are available to and should be used by the speechwriter It is important for speechwriters to analyse audiences according to factors such as age gender culture profession and income level size of audience political affiliation if any and on the occasion for or purpose of the speech Most effective speeches do not exceed 20 minutes in length After researching a topic speechwriters must prepare an outline from which the speech will be developed They should strive to maintain a clear theme throughout the speech Most speeches will have a three part structure consisting of an introduction a body and a conclusion The accepted style of contemporary American public address is natural direct low key casual and conversational This puts the listeners at ease and promotes a sense of community between the audience and speaker Punctuation should reflect the sound structure of the speech reinforcing the rhythm and pace of actual speech Clarity of expression is as important a consideration in speech grammar as rigid adherence to the rules for written law This book presents the essentials of speechwriting Preface Speechwriting in Perspective A Brief Guide to Effective and Persuasive Communication Thomas H Neale Public Speaking and Speechwriting Selected References Jean M Bowers Index Preaching that Matters Lori J. Carrell, 2013-04-11 Listeners do love their pastors and they agree with the sermon content they hear Lori Carrell once explained to a group of pastors but most sermons don t ask for change and most listeners don t experience spiritual growth as a result of the sermon A participant responded Let s get practical I want my preaching to make a difference What changes are worth making and how do I make them In Preaching that Matters Lori

Carrell shares answers to that question drawing on the experiences of thousands of people preachers and their listeners whose effort she has studied over many years In each chapter of this book she offers research revelations about high impact preaching that will encourage and challenge readers to continue to grow as preachers She then links these principles with Reflective Practice Challenges RPCs exercises that honor the rich experiences of pastors while opening opportunities for self analysis spiritual introspection conversation with a trusted other or implementation of research based preaching recommendations The activities have been used by hundreds of other pastors and each RPC has been carefully selected for its demonstrated contribution to the process of transforming sermon communication A selection of the RPCs are available as a downloadable file E mail resource material rowman com for more information As a communication expert Carrell approaches preaching from a sermon communication paradigm She begins with the task of identifying the spiritually transformative purpose of the sermon and then explores exegeting organizing deepening and delivering the sermon as well as listening to the listeners and planning for continued transformation Her own goal is simple to inspire and equip clergy to make changes that will enhance the transformative power of their preaching To connect with others reading Preaching That Matters and to find an online accountability partner join the book's Google communities
