Yahya, 2010-10 Covering three broader issues biodiversity conservation religious doctrine and environment the book Biodiversity Conservation Ethics in Major Religions is the result of a unique approach It attempts to initiate scientific discourse through the fabric of religions Spread across 15 chapters the book covers the essence of 10 religions on biodiversity encompassing a wide range of issues related to conservation The book promises to be a useful resource for biodiversity students researchers and protected area managers and also for religious scholars who are invited to look at the broader themes of religions beyond theology

Main

Currents in Western Environmental Thought Peter Hay, 2002-02-21 Professor Hay environmental studies U of Tasmania must have been a patient and long time follower of environmental debate over the last 35 years to have masterfully untangled the myriad and subtle contentions and changes of heart in ecophilosophy ecofeminism ecoreligiosity and spirituality green critiques of science green politics philosophies of place and ecology s relationship to democracy and postmodernism Hay s Tasmanian provenance seems less weakness than strength since he provides a more international perspective on environmentalism that includes Australia North America and Europe Not only geographically wide ranging Hay is ideologically inclusive bringing into the environmental forum without apology or pride discussions among animal rightists and their critics and assertions that environmental concern is partially pre rational Reading Hay s environmental tome is likely to introduce even seasoned readers to new names Deborah Slicer John Rodman Warwick Fox Stephen Clark Ariel Salleh and so new arguments Suitable as a primary or secondary text for an advanced undergraduate or graduate class in environmental thought Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Religion and the Environment R. Tanner, C. Mitchell, 2016-06-03 This book is an analysis of the whole frontier between religion and the environment It deals in turn with their interactions and the effects of each on the other in the major world religions It considers the religious impact on human uses of time space materials transport and foods and the environmental effects of religious influence on major topics such as population pressures morbidity mortality marital arrangements contraception the treatment of animals and environmental management

Loving Nature Kay Milton, 2003-09-01 As the full effects of human activity on Earth s life support systems are revealed by science the question of whether we can change fundamentally our relationship with nature becomes increasingly urgent Just as important as an understanding of our environment is an understanding of ourselves of the kinds of beings we are and why we act as we do In Loving Nature Kay Milton considers why some people in Western societies grow up to be nature lovers actively concerned about the welfare and future of plants animals ecosystems and nature in general while others seem indifferent or intent on destroying these things Drawing on findings and ideas from anthropology psychology cognitive science and philosophy the author discusses how we come to understand nature as we do and above all how we develop emotional commitments to it Anthropologists in recent years have tended to suggest that our understanding of the world is shaped solely by the culture in which we live Controversially Kay Milton argues that it is shaped by direct experience in which emotion plays an essential role The author argues that the conventional opposition between emotion and rationality in western culture is a myth The effect of this myth has been to support a market economy which systematically destroys nature and to exclude from public decision making the kinds of emotional attachments that support more environmentally sensitive ways of living A better understanding of ourselves as fundamentally emotional beings could give such ways of living the respect they need

Representations and Rights of the Environment Sandy Lamalle, Peter Stoett, 2023-04-06 Attending to the Cry of the Earth requires a critical appraisal of how we conceive our relationship with the environment and a clear vision of how to apprehend it in law and governance Addressing questions of participation responsibility and justice this collective endeavour includes marginalised and critical voices featuring contributions by leading practitioners and thinkers in Indigenous law traditional knowledge wild law the rights of nature theology public policy and environmental humanities Such voices play a decisive role in comprehending and responding to current global challenges They invite us to broaden our horizon of meaning and action modes of knowing and being in the world and envision the path ahead with a new legal consciousness A valuable reference for students researchers and practitioners this book is one of a series of publications associated with the Earth System Governance Project For more publications see www.cambridge.org/earth-system-governance

Ecodisaster Imaginaries in India Joyjit Ghosh, Samit Kumar Maiti, Scott Slovic, 2023-09-19 Ecodisaster Imaginaries in India Essays in Critical Perspectives is a volume of critical essays that discuss and debate the literary and cultural representations of ecological environmental disaster in India from the perspectives that are integral to postcolonial disaster studies and the environmental humanities The essays offer theoretically informed readings of environmental fiction nonfiction and poetry among other contemporary literary genres that open our eyes to today's burning issues of global warming climate change pollution of air and water bodies deforestation and species extinction The volume addresses the staunch ecological consciousness reflected in Rabindranath Tagore's writings from the early twentieth century indigenous responses to ecodisaster and the portrayal of ecodisaster in selected Indian movies which raise questions of human rights violations in the face of manmade disaster and environmental crisis

Christianity and Ecological Theology E. M. Conradie, 2006-10-01 There has been a proliferation of publications in the field of Christian ecological theology over the last three decades or so These include a number of recent edited volumes each covering a range of topics and consolidating many of the emerging insights in ecological theology The call for Christian churches to respond to the environmental crisis has been reiterated numerous times in this vast corpus of literature also in South Africa

Environmental Constitutionalism in the Anthropocene Domenico Amirante, Silvia Bagni, 2022-04-03 This book examines the relationship between man and nature through different cultural approaches to encourage new environmental legislation as a means of fostering acceptance at a local level In 2019 the International Union of Geological Sciences IUGS recognised that we have entered a new era the Anthropocene specifically characterised by the impact of one species mankind on environmental change The Anthropocene is penetrating the discourse of both hard sciences and humanities and social sciences by posing new epistemological as well as practical challenges to many disciplines Legal sciences have so far been at the margins of this intellectual renewal with few contributions on the central role that the notion of Anthropocene could play in forging a more effective and just environmental law By applying a multidisciplinary approach and adopting a Law as Culture paradigm to the study of law this book explores new paths of investigation and possible solutions to be applied New perspectives for the constitutional framing of environmental policies rights and alternative methods for bottom up participatory law making and conflict resolution are investigated showing that environmental justice is not just an option but an objective within reach The book will be essential reading for students academics and policymakers in the areas of law environmental studies and anthropology
