Spirit Of Development Protestant Ngos Morality And Economics In Zimbabwe:

The Spirit of Development, 2003 This work is an ethnographic account of the work of transnational Christian non governmental organizations NGOs in Zimbabwe Protestant NGOs are one of the voices of pluralism in southern Africa sometimes challenging the state and at other times collaborating with it The tensions of such engagement are key to understanding the successes and failures of transnational humanitarian endeavors to foster democratic governance in Zimbabwe While much scholarship has been focused theoretically on the role of NGOs in democratization in Africa regarding international foreign policy few studies

Between Humanitarianism and Evangelism in Faith-based Organisations May Ngo, 2018-04-27 Religion has always played an important if often contested role in the public domain This book focuses on how faith based organisations FBOs interact with the public sphere showing how faith based actors are themselves shaped by wider processes and global forces such as globalisation migration foreign policy and neoliberal markets Focusing on a case study of an FBO in Morocco which gives aid to sub Saharan African irregular migrants the book reveals some of the challenges the organisation faces as it tries to negotiate at once local national and international contexts through their particular Christian values This book contends that the contradictions tensions and ambiguities that arise are primarily a result of the organisation having to negotiate a normative global secular liberalism which requires a strict demarcation between religion and politics and religion and the secular Faith based actors particularly within humanitarianism have to constantly navigate this divide and in examining the question of how religious values translate into humanitarian and development practices categories such as religion the secular and politics and the boundaries between them will need to be interrogated This book explores the diversity and complexity of the work of FBOs and will be of great interest to students and researchers working at the intersections of humanitarianism and development studies politics and religion

Gulf Charities and Islamic Philanthropy in the 'Age of Terror' and Beyond Jonathan Benthall, Robert Lacey, 2014-12-31 Gulf Charities and Islamic Philanthropy in the Age of Terror and Beyond is the first book to be published on the charities of Saudi Arabia and the Arabian Gulf covering their work both domestic and international From a diversity of viewpoints the book addresses the historical roots of Islamic philanthropy in religious traditions and geopolitical movements the interactions of the Gulf charities with Western relief and development institutions now under pressure owing to budgetary constraints numerous case studies from the Middle East Africa and South Asia the impact of violent extremism on the sector with the legal repercussions that have followed especially in the USA the recent history of attempts to alleviate the obstacles faced by bona fide Islamic charities whose absence from major conflict zones now leaves a vacuum for extremist groups to penetrate the prospects for a less politicized Islamic charity sector when the so called war on terror eventually loses its salience

Humanitarianism and Challenges of Cooperation Volker Heins, Kai Koddenbrock, Christine Unrau, 2016-02-05 Humanitarianism as a moral concept and an organized practice has become a major factor in world society It channels an enormous amount of resources and serves as an argument for different kinds of interference into the internal affairs of countries and regions At the same time and for these very reasons it is an ideal testing ground for successful and unsuccessful cooperation across borders Humanitarianism and the Challenges of Cooperation examines the multiple humanitarianisms of today as a testing ground for new ways of global cooperation General trends in the contemporary transformation of humanitarianism are studied and individual cases of how humanitarian actors cooperate with others on the ground are investigated This book offers a highly innovative empirically informed account of global humanitarianism from the point of view of cooperation research in which internationally renowned contributors analyse broad trends and present case studies based on meticulous fieldwork This book will be of great interest to students and researchers in the areas of political science international relations and humanitarianism It is also a valuable resource for humanitarian aid workers Faith and Charity Marie Nathalie LeBlanc, Louis Audet Gosselin, 2016-10-20 Since the 1990s most African economies and public spheres have been liberalised and new civil society actors have emerged As mapped out by Marie Nathalie LeBlanc and Louis Audet Gosselin in West Africa Christian and Muslim organisations have come to dominate the field of humanitarian assistance Moving beyond mainstream development theory Faith and Charity brings out the crucial role of religion in the development process and the interplay of moral and political ideologies From faith based NGOs to individual local activists the authors explore how each group makes sense of and contributes to the wider process of social development in the neoliberal era Based on extensive research and deploying a sophisticated and original frame of analysis Faith and Charity will make an important contribution to the existing literature on development anthropology and the anthropology of religion in Africa

Routledge Handbook of Africa-Asia Relations Pedro Amakasu Raposo, David Arase, Scarlett Cornelissen, 2017-10-30 The Routledge Handbook of Africa Asia Relations is the first handbook aimed at studying the interactions between countries across Africa and Asia in a multi disciplinary and comprehensive way Providing a balanced discussion of historical and on going processes which have both shaped and changed intercontinental relations over time contributors take a thematic approach to examine the ways in which we can conceptualise these two very different yet inextricably linked areas of the world Using comparative examples throughout the chronological sections cover Early colonialist contacts between Africa and Asia Modern Asia Africa interactions through diplomacy political networks and societal connections Africa Asia contemporary relations including increasing economic security and environmental cooperation This handbook grapples with major intellectual questions defines current research and projects future agendas of investigation in the field As such it will be of great interest to students of African and Asian Politics as well as researchers and policymakers interested in Asian and African Studies From Strangers to Neighbors Ryan Alaniz, 2017-12-06 Natural disasters the effects of climate change and political upheavals and war have driven tens of millions of people from their homes and spurred intense debates about how governments and nongovernmental organizations NGOs should respond with long term resettlement strategies Many resettlement efforts have focused primarily on providing infrastructure and have done little to help displaced people and communities rebuild social structure which has led to resettlement failures throughout the world So what does it take to transform a resettlement into a successful community This book offers the first long term comparative study of social outcomes through a case study of two Honduran resettlements built for survivors of Hurricane Mitch 1998 by two different NGOs Although residents of each arrived from the same affected neighborhoods and have similar demographics twelve years later one resettlement wrestles with high crime low participation and low social capital while the other maintains low crime a high degree of social cohesion participation and general social health Using a multi method approach of household surveys interviews ethnography and analysis of NGO and community documents Ryan Alaniz demonstrates that these divergent resettlement trajectories can be traced back to the type and quality of support provided by external organizations and the creation of a healthy cohesive community culture His findings offer important lessons and strategies that can be utilized in other places and in future resettlement policy to achieve the most effective and positive results

AIDS and Governance Bjorg Sandkjaer, Professor Alan Whiteside, Professor Nana K Poku, 2013-03-28 The political impact of HIV AIDS varies greatly and is difficult to map States depend on how governments choose to manage the political implications of HIV and AIDS both those stemming from the erosions of its own capacity as well as those that originate from their changing relationship on a national and international level Across the developing world HIV AIDS is slowly killing adults in their most productive years hollowing out state structures deepening poverty and raising profound questions that touch on the organization of all aspects of social economic and political life With the epidemic showing scant signs of slowing down this innovative volume assesses how HIV AIDS affects governance and conversely how governance affects the course of the epidemic In particular the volume employs a compelling analytical and polemic framework for mapping the multiple dynamic mechanisms of governance and HIV AIDS brings together contributions from renowned international scholars from a variety of disciplines draws on comprehensive and detailed perspectives of the roles of actors institutions and structures provides an incisive study of a global plague which threatens existing social economic and human interrelations Institutionalised Dreams Elżbieta Drażkiewicz, 2020-01-01 Using examples from Poland El bieta Dr kiewicz explores the question of why states become donors and individuals decide to share their wealth with others through foreign aid She comes to the conclusion that the concept of foreign aid requires the establishment of a specific moral economy which links national ideologies and local cultures of charitable giving with broader ideas about the global political economy It is through these processes that faith in foreign aid interventions as a solution to global issues is generated The book also explores the relationship linking a state institution with its NGO partners as well as international players such as the EU or OECD
