Spline Regression Models for Calibration Data John F. Bauer, 1990

Robust Optimization of Spline Models and Complex Regulatory Networks Ayşe Özmen, 2016-05-11 This book introduces methods of robust optimization in multivariate adaptive regression splines MARS and Conic MARS in order to handle uncertainty and non linearity The proposed techniques are implemented and explained in two model regulatory systems that can be found in the financial sector and in the contexts of banking environmental protection system biology and medicine The book provides necessary background information on multi model regulatory networks optimization and regression It presents the theory of and approaches to robust conic multivariate adaptive regression splines R C MARS and robust conic generalized partial linear models R C GPLM under polyhedral uncertainty Further it introduces spline regression models for multi model regulatory networks and interprets C MARS results based on different datasets for the implementation It explains robust optimization in these models in terms of both the theory and methodology In this context it studies R C MARS results with different uncertainty scenarios for a numerical example Lastly the book demonstrates the implementation of the method in a number of applications from the financial energy and environmental sectors and provides an outlook on future research

Bayesian Analysis of Failure Time Data Using P-Splines Matthias Kaeding, 2014-12-26 Matthias Kaeding discusses Bayesian methods for analyzing discrete and continuous failure times where the effect of time and or covariates is modeled via P splines and additional basic function expansions allowing the replacement of linear effects by more general functions The MCMC methodology for these models is presented in a unified framework and applied on data sets Among others existing algorithms for the grouped Cox and the piecewise exponential model under interval censoring are combined with a data augmentation step for the applications The author shows that the resulting Gibbs sampler works well for the grouped Cox and is merely adequate for the piecewise exponential model
