The Education Mirage How Teachers Succeed And Why The System Fails:

The Education Mirage Ira Winn, 2003 How can education foster critical thinking Why do our supposedly best educated lead us toward political and ethical bankruptcy What can be done to supplant the current testing mania In The Education Mirage educator Ira Winn faces just such questions and more Here you will learn creative teaching not the piling of facts or memorizing what to think and the five reasons why which leads to classroom stupor Today teaching is often mechanical a lost art even as the shortage of good teachers is a catastrophe Even computers are not the magic key to reform although they are an important adjunct True reform always deals with the way we think with sharpening abilities to make judgments and to question facts definitions and values The road to school hell is littered with quick fixes We can do better much better

The Journal of Education Thomas Williams Bicknell, Albert Edward Winship, Anson Wood Belding, 1899 Disability, Intersectionality, and Belonging in Special Education Elizabeth A. Harkins Monaco, L. Lynn Stansberry Brusnahan, Marcus C. Fuller, Martin O. Odima Jr., 2024-02-23

Disability Intersectionality and Belonging in Special Education focuses on preparing educators who use socioculturally sustaining practices curricula and instruction through an intersectional lens This book empowers preservice students and special education practitioners and administrators to meet the needs of disabled individuals Understanding the full range of requirements relating to socioculturally sustaining practices is imperative to working with individuals with disabilities as well as with their families and caregivers Being able to understand and explain this complex issue to others is important and often necessary Social injustices in special education are historical and systemic Special education practitioners are typically unaware of the importance of intersectional differences because they have been prepared to address cultural perspectives only during awareness days or through specific units in curricula At other times they discuss the topic diagnostically for example as part of an educational plan or when teaching English as a second language Other issues stem from the value system of the special education practitioners themselves some are not willing to engage in these concepts while others prioritize treating all students the same by using the terms fairness equity and colorblindness to justify this treatment Even when special educator practitioners attempt to address injustices on behalf of their students they tend to center on only the student s disability which means they are ignoring or erasing other aspects of their students identities These concerns highlight the importance of building the sociocultural competence of our teaching force This book will help practitioners build this competence in their own spheres of influence
