Constitutional founding through the Civil War Hoang Gia Phan demonstrates how American citizenship and civic culture were profoundly transformed by the racialized material histories of free enslaved and indentured labor Bonds of Citizenship illuminates the historical tensions between the legal paradigms of citizenship and contract and in the emergence of free labor ideology in American culture Phan argues that in the age of Emancipation the cultural attributes of free personhood became identified with the legal rights and privileges of the citizen and that individual freedom thus became identified with the nation state He situates the emergence of American citizenship and the American novel within the context of Atlantic slavery and Anglo American legal culture placing early American texts by Hector St John de Cr vec ur Benjamin Franklin and Charles Brockden Brown alongside Black Atlantic texts by Ottobah Cugoano and Olaudah Equiano Beginning with a revisionary reading of the Constitution s slavery clauses Phan recovers indentured servitude as a transitional form of labor bondage that helped define the key terms of modern U S citizenship mobility volition and contract Bonds of Citizenship demonstrates how citizenship and civic culture were transformed by antebellum debates over slavery free labor and national Union while analyzing the writings of Frederick Douglass and Herman Melville alongside a wide ranging archive of lesser known antebellum legal and literary texts in the context of changing conceptions of constitutionalism property and contract Situated at the nexus of literary criticism legal studies and labor history Bonds of Citizenship challenges the founding fiction of a pro slavery Constitution central to American letters and legal culture Hoang Gia Phan is Associate Professor of English at the University of Massachusetts Amherst In the America and the Long 19th Century series An ALI book

The Life and Times of Frederick Douglass, Written by Himself Frederick Douglass, 1881 Dreams of a More Perfect Union Rogan Kersh, 2013-06-04 In a brilliantly conceived and elegantly written book Rogan Kersh investigates the idea of national union in the United States For much of the period between the colonial era and the late nineteenth century he shows union was the principal rhetorical means by which Americans expressed shared ideals and a common identity without invoking strong nationalism or centralized governance Through his exploration of how Americans once succeeded in uniting a diverse and fragmented citizenry Kersh revives a long forgotten source of U S national identity Why and how did Americans perceive themselves as one people from the early history of the republic How did African Americans and others at the margins of U S civic culture apply this concept of union Why did the term disappear from vernacular after the 1880s In his search for answers Kersh employs a wide range of methods including political theory analysis of writings by James Madison Frederick Douglass and Abraham Lincoln and empirical analysis drawing on his own extensive database of American newspapers The author s findings are persuasive and often surprising One intriguing development for instance was a strong resurgence of union feelings among Southerners including prominent former secessionists after the Civil War With its fascinating and novel approach Dreams of a More Perfect Union offers valuable insights about American political history especially the rise of nationalism and federalism Equally important the author s close retracing of the religious institutional and other themes

Citizenship, Law and Literature Caroline Koegler, Jesper Reddig, Klaus Stierstorfer, 2021-10-25 This edited volume is the first to focus on how concepts of citizenship diversify and stimulate the long standing field of law and literature and vice versa Building on existing research in law and literature as well as literature and citizenship studies the collection approaches the triangular relationship between citizenship law and literature from a variety of disciplinary conceptual and political perspectives with particular emphasis on the performative aspect inherent in any type of social expression and cultural artefact The sixteen chapters in this volume present literature as carrying multifarious at times opposing energies and impulses in relation to citizenship These range from providing discursive arenas for consolidating challenging and re negotiating citizenship to directly interfering with or inspiring processes of law making and governance The volume opens up new possibilities for the scholarly understanding of citizenship along two axes Citizenship as Literature Enacting Citizenship and Citizenship in Literature Conceptualising Citizenship

Historic World Leaders: North & South America (A-L) Anne Commire, 1994 This is volume four in a five volume biographical resource which presents the lives times and significant contributions of social political and religious leaders from earliest recorded times to the present both the best known and lesser known figures This particular volume deals with Africa and the Middle East

Traveling South John David Cox, 2010-04-15 Traveling South is the first major study of how narratives of travel through the antebellum South helped construct an American national identity during the years between the Revolutionary War and the Civil War John Cox makes his case on the basis of a broad range of texts that includes slave narratives domestic literature and soldiers diaries as well as more traditional forms of travel writing In the process he extends the boundaries of travel literature both as a genre and as a subject of academic study The writers of these intranational accounts struggled with the significance of travel through a region that was both America and other In writings by J Hector St John de Cr vecoeur and William Bartram for example the narrators create personal identities and express their Americanness through travel that Cox argues becomes a defining aspect of the young nation In the narratives of Frederick Douglass and Solomon Northup the complex relationship between travel and slavery highlights contemporary debates over the meaning of space and movement Both Fanny Kemble and Harriet Jacobs explore the intimate linkings of women s travel and the construction of an ideal domestic space whereas Frederick Law Olmsted seeks through his travel writing to reform the southern economy and expand a New England yeoman ideology throughout the nation The Civil War diaries of Union soldiers written during the years that witnessed the largest movement of travelers through the South echo earlier themes while concluding that the South should not be transformed in order to become sufficiently American rather it was and should remain a part of the American nation regardless of perceived differences

Reconfiguring Citizenship and National Identity in the North American Literary Imagination Kathy-Ann Tan, 2015-12-07 Explores how traditional notions of citizenship are contested and altered through literature

Literature has always played a central role in creating and disseminating culturally specific notions of citizenship nationhood and belonging In Reconfiguring Citizenship and National Identity in the North American Literary Imagination author Kathy Ann Tan investigates metaphors configurations parameters and articulations of U S and Canadian citizenship that are enacted renegotiated and revised in modern literary texts particularly during periods of emergence and crisis Tan brings together for the first time a selection of canonical and lesser known U S and Canadian writings for critical consideration She begins by exploring literary depiction of willful or wayward citizens and those with precarious bodies that are viewed as threatening undesirable unacceptable including refugees and asylum seekers undocumented migrants deportees and stateless people She also considers the rights to citizenship and political membership claimed by queer bodies and an examination of new and alternative forms of citizenship such as denizenship urban citizenship diasporic citizenship and Indigenous citizenship With case studies based on works by a diverse collection of authors including Nathaniel Hawthorne Djuna Barnes Etel Adnan Sarah Schulman Walt Whitman Gail Scott and Philip Roth Tan uncovers alternative forms of collectivity community and nation across a broad range of perspectives In line with recent cross disciplinary explorations in the field Reconfiguring Citizenship and National Identity in the North American Literary Imagination shows citizenship as less of a fixed or static legal entity and more as a set of symbolic and cultural practices Scholars of literary studies cultural studies and citizenship studies will be grateful for Tan s illuminating study

The Cambridge Companion to Nineteenth-Century American Literature and Politics John D. Kerker, 2025-03-13 This volume addresses the political contexts in which nineteenth century American literature was conceived consumed and criticized It shows how a variety of literary genres and forms such as poetry drama fiction oratory and nonfiction engaged with political questions and participated in political debate

Confrontational Citizenship William W. Sokoloff, 2017-11-14 Defends confrontational modes of citizenship as a means to reinvigorate democratic participation and regime accountability A growing number of people are enraged about the quality and direction of public life despise politicians and are desperate for real political change How can the contemporary neoliberal global political order be challenged and rebuilt in an egalitarian and humanitarian manner What type of political agency and new political institutions are needed for this In order to answer these questions Confrontational Citizenship draws on a broad base of perspectives to articulate the concept of confrontational citizenship William W Sokoloff defends extra institutional and confrontational modes of political activity along with new ways of conceiving political institutions as a way to create political orders accountable to the people In contrast to many forms of democratic theory Sokoloff argues that confrontational modes of citizenship e g protest are good because they increase the accountability of a regime to the people increase the legitimacy of regimes lead to improvements in a political order and serve as a means to vent frustration The goal is to make the word citizen relevant and dangerous to the settled and closed practices that structure our political world and to provide a hopeful vision of what it means to be politically progressive today
