Rider Haggard,2015-10-19 It may be remembered that in the last pages of his diary written just before his death Allan Quatermain makes allusion to his long dead wife stating that he has written of her fully elsewhere When his death was known his papers were handed to myself as his literary executor Among them I found two manuscripts of which the following is one The other is simply a record of events wherein Mr Quatermain was not personally concerned a Zulu novel the story of which was told to him by the hero many years after the tragedy had occurred But with this we have nothing to do at present I have often thought Mr Quatermain's manuscript begins that I would set down on paper the events connected with my marriage and the loss of my most dear wife Many years have now passed since that event and to some extent time has softened the old grief though Heaven knows it is still keen enough On two or three occasions I have even begun the record Once I gave it up because the writing of it depressed me beyond bearing once because I was suddenly called away upon a journey and the third time because a Kaffir boy found my manuscript convenient for lighting the kitchen fire But now that I am at leisure here in England I will make a fourth attempt If I succeed the story may serve to interest some one in after years when I am dead and gone before that I should not wish it to be published It is a wild tale enough and suggests some curious reflections The Complete Works of Henry Rider Haggard Henry Rider Haggard,2023-12-08 The Complete Works of Henry Rider Haggard presents an extensive anthology of one of the most prolific authors of the late 19th and early 20th centuries Haggard's literary style is marked by a vivid imagination and a knack for adventure blending elements of fantasy mystery and colonialism into his narratives This postcolonialism as well as cognitive approaches to literature that are only now gaining traction Employing the cutting edge approaches of contemporary psychology and sociology Soseki created a model for studying the conscious experience of reading literature as well as a theory for how the process changes over time and across cultures Along with Theory of Literature this volume reproduces a later series of lectures and essays in which Soseki continued to develop his theories By insisting that literary taste is socially and historically determined Soseki was able to challenge the superiority of the Western canon and by grounding his theory in scientific knowledge he was able to claim a universal validity
