reveals how Deng Xiaoping pushed through China's very different Communist reinvention. It provides an invaluable text for students, teachers, and professionals from a wide range of disciplines and professional groups Black, White, and Green Alison Hope Alkon, 2012-11-01 Farmers markets are much more than places to buy produce. According to advocates for sustainable food systems, they are also places to vote with your fork for environmental protection, vibrant communities, and strong local economies. Farmers markets have become essential to the movement for food system reform and are a shining example of a growing green economy where consumers can shop their way to social change. Black, White, and Green brings new energy to this topic by exploring dimensions of race and class as they relate to farmers markets and the green economy. With a focus on two Bay Area markets, one in the primarily white neighborhood of North Berkeley and the other in largely black West Oakland, Alison Hope Alkon investigates the possibilities for social and environmental change embodied by farmers markets and the green economy. Drawing on ethnographic and historical sources, Alkon describes the meanings that farmers market managers, vendors, and consumers attribute to the buying and selling of local organic food and the ways that those meanings are raced and classed. She mobilizes this research to understand how the green economy fosters visions of social change that are compatible with economic growth while marginalizing those that are not. Black, White, and Green is one of the first books to carefully theorize the green economy to examine the racial dynamics of food politics and to approach issues of food access from an environmental justice perspective. In a practical sense, Alkon offers an empathetic critique of a newly popular strategy for social change, highlighting both its strengths and limitations Black Liberation in Higher Education Chayla Haynes, Milagros Castillo-Montoya, Meseret F. Hailu, Saran Stewart, 2021-05-10 In this book on higher education, the contributors make The Black Lives Matter (BLM) their focus and engage in contemporary theorizing around the issues central to the Movement: Black Deprivation, Black Resistance, and Black Liberation. The BLM movement has brought national attention to the deadly oppression shaping the everyday lives of Black people. With the recent murders of Breonna Taylor and George Floyd from state sanctioned violence by police the public outrage and racial unrest catapulted BLM further into the mainstream Institutional leaders e g provosts department heads faculty campus administrators particularly among white people soon began realizing that anti Blackness could no longer be ignored making BLM the most significant social movement of our time The chapters included in this volume cover topics such as white institutional space and the experiences of Black administrators a Black transnational ethic of Black Lives Matter depictions of BLM in the media racially liberatory pedagogy campus rebellions and classrooms as sites for Black liberation Black women s labor and intersectional interventions and Black liberation research The considerations for research and practice presented are intended to assist institutional leaders policy makers transdisciplinary researchers and others outside higher education to dismantle anti Blackness and create supportive mechanisms that benefit Black people especially those working learning and serving in higher education The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of International Journal of Qualitative Studies in Education Resources in Women's Educational Equity ,1979 Resources in Women's Educational Equity: Special Issue ,1979
