A Korean Scholar's Rude Awakening in Qing China Pak Chega, 2019-07-31 Two years after Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations was published in 1776 Pak Chega's 1750 1805 Discourse on Northern Learning appeared on the opposite corner of the globe Both books presented notions of wealth and the economy for critical review the former caused a stir across Europe the latter influenced only a modest group of Chosŏn 1392 1897 Korea scholars and other intellectuals Nevertheless the ideas of both thinkers closely reflected the spirit of their times and helped define certain schools of thought in the case of Pak Northern Learning Pukhak which disparaged the Chosŏn Neo Confucian state ideology as inert and ineffective Years of humiliation and resentment against the conquering Manchus blinded many Korean elites to the scientific and technological advances made in Qing China 1644 1911 They despised its rulers as barbarians and begrudged Qing China's status as their suzerain state But Pak saw Korea's northern neighbor as a model of economic and social reform He and like minded progressives discussed and corroborated views about the superiority of China's civilization After traveling to Beijing in 1776 Pak wrote Discourse on Northern Learning in which he favorably introduced many aspects of China's economy and culture By comparison he argued Korea's economy was depressed the result of inadequate government policies and the selfishness of a privileged upper class He called for drastic reforms in agriculture and industry and for opening the country to international trade In a series of short essays Pak gives us rare insights into life on the ground in late eighteenth century Korea and in the many details he supplies on Chinese farming trade and other commercial activities his work provides a window onto everyday life in Qing China Students and specialists of Korean history particularly social reform movements and Chosŏn Qing relations will welcome this new translation

Women and Confucian Cultures in Premodern China, Korea, and Japan Dorothy Ko,JaHyun Kim Haboush,Joan Piggott,2003-08-28 Representing an unprecedented collaboration among international scholars from Asia Europe and the United States this volume rewrites the history of East Asia by rethinking the contentious relationship between Confucianism and women The authors discuss the absence of women in the Confucian canonical tradition and examine the presence of women in politics family education and art in premodern China Korea and Japan What emerges is a concept of Confucianism that is dynamic instead of monolithic in shaping the cultures of East Asian societies As teachers mothers writers and rulers women were active agents in this process Neither rebels nor victims these women embraced aspects of official norms while resisting others The essays present a powerful image of what it meant to be female and to live a woman's life in a variety of social settings and historical circumstances Challenging the conventional notion of Confucianism as an oppressive tradition that victimized women this provocative book reveals it as a modern construct that does not reflect the social and cultural histories of East Asia before the nineteenth century
