American Holocaust David E. Stannard, 1992 This controversial treatise focuses on the social and cultural issues involved in the invasion of the Americas by European nations It describes the suppression or extermination of native cultures and focuses on the cultural and ideological principles behind the colonization efforts The Medieval World of Nature

Joyce E. Salisbury, 2019-06-26 Originally published in 1993 The Medieval World of Nature looks at how the natural world was viewed by medieval society The book presents the argument that the pragmatic medieval view of the natural world of animals and plants existed simply to serve medieval society It discusses the medieval concept of animals as food labour and sport and addresses how the biblical charge of assuming dominion over animals and plants was rooted in the medieval sensibility of control The book also looks at the idea of plants and animals as not only pragmatic but as allegories within the medieval world utilizing animals to draw morality tales which were viewed with as much importance as scientific information This book provides a unique and interesting look at the everyday medieval world Milton and the Middle Ages John

Mulryan, 1982 Refuting the view that Milton was an antimodernist the eight essays presented here approach him from the interdisciplinary perspectives of historical theological literary philosophical and pictorial concerns and illuminate the many areas in which Milton's work grew out of medieval art and culture Milton's Ovidian Eve Mandy Green, 2016-04-22

Milton's Ovidian Eve presents a fresh and thorough exploration of the classical allusions central to understanding Paradise

Lost and to understanding Eve one of Milton's most complex characters Mandy Green demonstrates how Milton appropriates narrative structures verbal echoes and literary strategies from the Metamorphoses to create a subtle and evolving portrait of Eve Each chapter examines a different aspect of Eve's mythological figurations Green traces Eve's development through multiple critical lenses influenced by theological ecocritical and feminist readings Her analysis is gracefully situated between existing Milton scholarship and close textual readings and is supported by learned references to seventeenth century writing about women the allegorical tradition of Ovidian commentary hexameral literature theological contexts and biblical iconography This detailed scholarly treatment of Eve simultaneously illuminates our understanding of the character establishes Milton's reading of Ovid as central to his poetic success and provides a candid synthesis and reconciliation of earlier interpretations

Topos in Utopia: A peregrination to early modern utopianism's space Sotirios Triantafyllos, 2021-09-07 Topos in Utopia examines early modern literary utopias and intentional communities social and cultural conception of space Starting from Thomas More's seminal work published in 1516 and covering a period of three centuries until the emergence of Enlightenment's euchronia this work provides a thorough yet concise examination of the way space was imagined and utilised in the early modern visions of a better society Dealing with an aspect usually ignored by the scholars of early modern utopianism this book asks us to consider if utopias imaginary lands are based not only on abstract ideas but also on concrete spaces Shedding new light on a period where reformation zeal humanism's optimism colonialism's greed and a proto scientific discourse were combined to produce a series of alternative social and political paradigms this work transports us from the shores of America to the search for the Terra Australis Incognita and the desire to find a new and better world for us

The Limits of Moralizing David Mikics, 1994 This book argues that critical tradition has obscured the mutually constitutive relation between the didactic mission of Renaissance epic and the pathos of the epic self Critics usually see Spenser and Milton either as poets dedicated to an autonomous aesthetic that dictates indulgence in pathos for its own sake or as Christian moralists who subordinate pathos to the didactic demands of society The Romantic tradition that stretches from Keats to Harold Bloom exemplifies the former option Neo Christian reader response and new historicist critics assert a contrary but similarly unbalanced view by choosing the didactic authority of social custom tradition or ideology over the pathos of subjectivity Resisting attempts to establish an absolute priority for either pathos or moralizing David Mikics looks to the debate between subjective passions and didactic imperatives as a sign of the complex relation between literary creation and social norms In a study that shies away from new historicist endorsements of the force of normative ideology as well as late Romantic celebrations of the poetic self the author finds that Spenser and Milton develop an innovative literary subjectivity under the pressure of the Reformation's moralizing aims Incorporating moral force within pathos would allow poetic passion to become a worthy and clearly justifiable public stance But Spenser and Milton in their pursuit of this rhetorical ideal find themselves acknowledging instead an enduring disjunction between affect and the discursive forms of public morality which aim to discipline or exploit it BOOK JACKET
