Van Cleave, Willard Scott Thompson, 1979 Result of a conference sponsored by the National Strategy Information Center June 27 29 1978 Strategic Options for the Early Eighties William R. Van Cleave, Willard Scott Thompson, 1979 Result of a conference sponsored by the National Strategy Information Center June 27 29 1978 The North Atlantic Alliance and the Soviet Union in the 1980s Julian Critchley, 1982-02-25 To Promote Peace Dennis L. Bark, 2021-04-22 Sharing the premise that an adequate credible defense is the best guarantee of peace sixteen distinguished foreign policy experts test the chances of peace by examining American foreign policy in To Promote Peace Writing from the vantage point of the mid 1980s these contributors approach a broad spectrum of the day s issues developing fresh ideas and innovative policy approaches at every turn Their essays always challenging clear and incisive furnish a realistic blueprint for peace in a world dominated by nuclear fantasies and cutting edge technologies Declaring that the Allies must bear their fair share of NATO s common defense Melvyn Krauss argues the time has come to begin phasing out U S forces in Europe Pointing out that compromised intelligence has squandered much of our technological advantage Arnold Beichman demands that top priority be given to the establishment of an effective sophisticated intelligence network Showing the effects of d tente inspired build down of tactical nuclear weapons H Joachim Ma tre explores a variety of weapons systems in achieving true mutual deterrence From an analysis of the critical relationship between energy supply and peace to tough and well reasoned predictions on what the future holds To Promote Peace is not afraid to spark debate and seek new initiatives and direction Its assessments consider global issues with more realism more courage and more certainty of the necessity of maintaining the United States as a forceful presence throughout the world Negotiating START Kerry M. Kartchner, The United States and the Soviet Union have been negotiating nuclear arms control agreements for over twenty years yet radical differences remain in the two sides concept of and approaches to strategic stability and arms control This book compares and contrasts those approaches using START Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty as a case study Throughout two decades of negotiation U S policy has been directed toward dialogue that would encourage convergence of American and Soviet thought on nuclear deterrence In Kartchner s view that hope is belied not only by continuing asymmetries in the development and deployment of their strategic nuclear arsenals but by differing U S and Soviet negotiating positions The Reagan administration viewed START as a means of repudiating SALT II restoring a measure of balance in the U S Soviet strategic competition and as a way of closing the so called window of vulnerability In contrast Kartchner analyzes the Soviets differing views of nuclear balance emphasizing their satisfaction with SALT II and a strategic equilibrium shaped by a decade of bilateral arms control Kartchner offers a detailed exposition of the major negotiating issues in START contrasting concerns of U S and Soviet negotiators Not surprisingly each side s agenda was dominated by weapon systems that figure prominently in the other s development program The author concludes by summarizing and comparing American and Soviet quests for stability and drawing up an assessment of U S efforts in both SALT and START to use arms control negotiations as a kind of classroom for instructing Soviet officials in American notions of stabilizing versus destabilizing weapon technology and America s own ethnocentric view of stability START will profoundly affect the acquisition operation maintenance and cost of U S strategic nuclear forces well into the next century The history and analysis presented here will provide an essential source to policymakers and students of military political relations for much needed further study of this treaty s implications Counsels of War Gregg Herken,2015-02-18 Since the first atomic bomb was exploded in 1945 a close community of civilian experts including scientists academics and think tank intellectuals has advised the American government on the prospects of nuclear war Based on interviews with these experts as well as hundreds of pages of recently declassified documents Counsels of War is the first book to trace in detail the deliberations and shifting recommendations of the experts on the bomb from Hiroshima to Star Wars Gregg Herken writes about the people whose profession it has been to think about the unthinkable Robert McNamara Paul Nitze Herman Kahn Bernard Brodie including their intense rivalries personal animosities and often contentious relationship with the professional military He reveals how the influence of the scientist and strategist has extended well beyond the laboratory and the classroom in the proposal of Kennedy s advisers for a nuclear demonstration and even a clever first strike against the Russians for example Counsels of War also shatters certain popular assumptions about U S nuclear policy As Herken points out while American doctrine stresses retaliation U S strategists have always planned to pre empt a Soviet attack Herken shows that the lines in the current nuclear debate were actually drawn at the dawn of the atomic age and that the experts technically abstruse arguments have only served to hide from the public the fundamental deeply held and quite subjective differences at the heart of the debate Since Hiroshima there has been a growing awareness of the peril created by nuclear weapons yet the crucial questions that were never adequately addressed in 1945 unanswered today Given the inability of the experts to confront the essential dilemma of the nuclear age Counsels of War calls for a new nuclear debate one focused on American rather than Soviet intentions and that seeks an answer to the fundamental yet still unresolved question What are these weapons for
