Strategic Vision For Africa The Kampala Movement:

A Strategic Vision for Africa Francis M. Deng, I. William Zartman, 2004-06-23 Increasingly marginalized since the end of the Cold War the continent of Africa is struggling to identify both the root causes and possible solutions to the maladies that continue to plague it The problems read like a laundry list of misrule in the aftermath of decolonization rampant political corruption internecine wars widespread disease underdevelopment and economic collapse In the early 1990s a group of statesmen academics and civil leaders from all over Africa gathered to put together a comprehensive plan to make the continent become less dependent on the rest of the world and prepare it to compete in the new globalizing economy Those who gathered to write what would come to be known as the Kampala Document envisioned an organization which would succeed where the Organization for African Unity OAU had failed This new organization the Conference on Security Stability Development and Cooperation in Africa CSSDCA will provide a forum for discussion of democratization security issues and sustainable development This new book by noted scholars Francis Deng and I William Zartman provides a mid course appraisal of the progress of the CSSDCA as well as charting its future in relation to other regional organizations With a preface by President Olusegun Obasanjo this book will undoubtedly become an important tool in understanding Africa's present and future Francis Deng is a nonresident senior fellow in the Foreign Policy Studies program at the Brookings Institution His books include Masses in Flight The Global Crisis of Internal Displacement Brookings 1998 with Roberta Cohen The Forsaken People Case Studies of the Internally Displaced Brookings 1998 co edited with Roberta Cohen I William Zartman is Jacob Blaustein Professor of International Organizations and Conflict Resolution and Director of African Studies at the Paul H Nitze School of Advanced International Studies Legitimacy, Peace Operations and Global-regional Security Linnéa Gelot, 2012 This book focuses on the collaboration that takes place in the field of conflict management between the global centre and the African regional level It moves beyond the dominant framework on regional global security partnerships which mainly considers one sided legal and political factors Instead new perspectives on the relationships are presented through the lens of international legitimacy The book argues that the AU and the UN Security Council fight for legitimacy to ensure their positions of authority and to improve the chances of success of their activities It demonstrates in regard to the case of Darfur why and how legitimacy matters for states international organisations and also for global actors and local populations Page iii of paperback version Contesting Sovereignty Joel Ng, 2021-07-22 Sovereignty is a foundational idea upon which regional organisation of nations is built yet its demise has often been predicted Regionalism which commits states to common frameworks such as rules and norms tests sovereignty as states relinquish some sovereign power to achieve other goals such as security growth or liberalisation This book examines the practice of normative contestation over sovereignty in two regional organisations of Africa and Asia the AU and ASEAN A structured comparison of three case studies from each organisation determines whether a norm challenging sovereignty was accepted rejected or qualified Ng has carried out interviews about and detailed analysis of these six cases that occurred at formative moments of norm setting and that each had very different outcomes This study contributes to the understanding of norms contestation in the field of international relations and offers new insights on how the AU and ASEAN are constituted Black Damage Femi Akomolafe, 2016-07-04 Africa and black communities across the world are undoubtedly poor and dysfunctional Political and economic experts have attributed Africa's problems to factors such as corruption and the absence of strong institutions The dysfunctionality in African diaspora are usually attributed to broken family structure This book demonstrates however that these factors are not the causes of Africa's and its diasporas woes but are symptoms of more fundamental problems Using empirical and qualitative studies Black Damage highlights the origins of the endless socio economic miseries of Africa and global black communities It shows that the plight of Africa and its diasporas are interwoven hence it addresses them concurrently Based on more than ten years of research and insight as an African living in the UK diaspora Femi Akomolafe takes readers through 500 years of history to uncover the root causes of the current predicaments of black communities across the globe Solutions are provided African peace Kathryn Nash, 2021-02-09 African regional organizations have played leading roles in constructing collective conflict management rules for the continent but these rules or norms have not been static Currently the African Union AU deploys monitors authorizes peace support operations and actively engages to resolve internal conflicts Just a few decades ago these actions would have been deeply controversial under the Organization of African Unity OAU What changed to allow for this transformation in the way the African regional organization approaches peace and security African peace examines why the OAU chose norms in 1963 that prioritized state security and led to a policy of strict non interference even in the face of destabilizing violence and why the AU chose very different norms leading to a disparate conflict management policy in the early 2000s Even if the AU's capacity to respond to conflict is still developing this new policy has made the region more willing and capable of responding to violence Nash argues that norm creation largely happened within the African context and international pressure was not a determinant factor in their evolution The role of regions in the international order particularly the African region has been under theorized and under acknowledged and this book adds to an emerging literature that explores the role of regional organizations in the Global South in creating and promoting norms based on their own experiences and for their own purposes Confronting Genocide René Provost, Payam Akhavan, 2010-11-11 Never again stands as one the central pledges of the international community following the end of the Second World War upon full realization of the massive scale of the Nazi extermination programme Genocide stands as an intolerable assault on a sense of common humanity embodied in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other fundamental international instruments including the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide and the United Nations Charter And yet since the Second World War the international community has proven incapable of effectively preventing the occurrence of more genocides in places like Cambodia Yugoslavia Rwanda and

Sudan Is genocide actually preventable or is ever again a more accurate catchphrase to capture the reality of this phenomenon The essays in this volume explore the complex nature of genocide and the relative promise of various avenues identified by the international community to attempt to put a definitive end to its occurrence Essays focus on a conceptualization of genocide as a social and political phenomenon on the identification of key actors Governments international institutions the media civil society individuals and on an exploration of the relative promise of different means to prevent genocide criminal accountability civil disobedience shaming intervention Social Justice and Deep Participation Paula Donnelly Roark, 2014-11-24 Knowing what deep participation is and how it works can make a critical difference in solving 21st century economic political and social problems This book provides a new approach to hands on change and begins formulation of a participatory social theory promising greater prosperity and justice for all The Struggle for South Sudan Luka Biong Deng Kuol, Sarah Logan, 2018-11-29 South Sudan the world's youngest country has experienced a rocky start to its life as an independent nation Less than three years after gaining independence in 2011 following a violent liberation war the country slid back into conflict In the wake of infighting within the ruling Sudan People's Liberation Movement SPLM violence erupted in South Sudan's capital Juba in December 2013 The conflict pitted President Salva Kiir's predominantly Dinka presidential guard against Nuer fighters loyal to the former Vice President Riek Machar As fighting spread across the country it has taken on an increasingly ethnic nature Ceasefires have been agreed but there have been repeated violations by all sides Today the conflict continues unabated and the humanitarian situation grows ever more urgent This book analyses the crisis and some of its contributing factors The contributors have worked on South Sudan for a number of years and bring a wealth of knowledge and different perspectives to this discussion Providing the most comprehensive analysis yet of South Sudan's social and political history post independence governance systems and the current challenges for development this book will be essential reading for all those interested in the continuing struggle for peace in South Sudan Global Democracy and Sustainable Jurisprudence Walter F. Baber, Robert V. Bartlett, 2009-06-12 A proposal for a philosophical foundation and a realistic deliberative mechanism for creating a transnational common law for the environment In Global Democracy and Sustainable Jurisprudence Walter Baber and Robert Bartlett explore the necessary characteristics of a meaningful global jurisprudence a jurisprudence that would underpin international environmental law Arguing that theories of political deliberation offer useful insights into the current democratic deficit in international law and using this insight as a way to approach the problem of global environmental protection they offer both a theoretical foundation and a realistic deliberative mechanism for creating effective transnational common law for the environment Their argument links elements not typically associated abstract democratic theory and a practical form of deliberative democracy the legitimacy imparting value of deliberative democracy and the possibility of legislating through adjudication common law jurisprudence and the development of transnational environmental law and conceptual thinking that draws on Deweyan pragmatism Rawlsian contractarianism Habermasian critical theory and the full liberalism of Bohman Gutmann and Thompson Baber and Bartlett offer a democratic method for creating interpreting and implementing international environmental norms that involves citizens and bypasses states an innovation that can be replicated and deployed across a range of policy areas Transnational environmental consensus would develop through a novel model of juristic democracy that would generate legitimate international environmental law based on processes of hypothetical rule making by citizen juries This method would translate global environmental norms into international law law that unlike all current international law would be recognized as both fact and norm because of its inherent democratic legitimacy Preventing Deadly Conflict I. William Zartman, 2015-12-22 Conflict is inherent to all human and inter state relations but it is not inevitable Since the end of the Cold War the prevention of conflict escalation into violence through management and resolution has become a fundamental objective of the international system So how does prevention work when it works and what can be done when tried and tested practices fail In this book I William Zartman offers a clear and authoritative guide to the key challenges of conflict prevention and the norms processes and methods used to dampen and diffuse inter and intra state conflict in the contemporary world Early stage techniques including awareness de escalation stalemate ripening and resolution are explored in full alongside the late or crisis stage techniques of interruption separation and integration Prevention he argues is a battle that is never won there is always more work to be done The search for prevention necessary but still imperfect continues into new imperatives new mechanisms new agents and new knowledge which this book helps discover and apply
