Raising Literacy Achievement in High-Poverty Schools Eithne Kennedy, 2014-01-03 This book shares lessons gleaned from a two year intervention in a high poverty school which was highly successful in significantly narrowing the literacy achievement gap and in raising children s motivation and engagement in literacy both inside and outside school Kennedy argues that there is much that disadvantaged schools can do to close the gap but this is more likely to occur when a research based approach to instruction with a dual emphasis on cognitive skills and motivation and engagement assessment and professional development is undertaken Resources in Education, 2001-04 The Many Faces of School Library Leadership Sharon Coatney, Violet H. Harada, 2017-03-29 Completely revised with even more contributions added by practicing school librarians this book further examines the responsibility to lead in many areas and identifies the real world day to day application of established theory and best practices In today s educational landscape school librarians need to lead the way in many areas including advocacy literacy technology curriculum vision collaborative instruction and intellectual freedom All of these areas are vital to building and sustaining a school library program that enhances and encourages student achievement as well as to providing enhanced services to students and faculty This revised

An essential read for practicing school librarians as well as for pre service school librarians it offers today's school librarians actionable advice for strengthening their roles underlining their value and protecting their future all while boosting student learning and achievement. The expert guidance and perspectives in this book will bolster those who are facing enormous challenges to meet them and allow school library staff to protect their jobs and to save school library programs from extinction.

"I Hate Reading" Justin M. Stygles, 2022-09-19 It can take a lifetime to eradicate a reader's shame or it can take one great teacher. Shame-bound readers want someone to notice them. It's true. But then what does a teacher do to help students? Justin Stygles found fresh answers in Gershen Kaufman's seminal research on shame and applied it to his teaching. The results proved to him and now us that building relationships and taking deliberate actions to alleviate shame is crucial. With this remarkable book Stygles shows us how to build an interpersonal bridge with students and make vulnerability okay. But make no mistake disengaged readers need to feel competent before they fully buy in and so the author packs the book with powerful instructional ideas. Learn to Spot all the distress signals including withdrawal perfectionism and compliance. Help students see that they are not permanently locked out of a reading life. Use assessment instruments to note and celebrate incremental change. Plan mini units that develop skills in concert with engagement. Design small group experiences that are free of levels and other shame inducing labels. Pump up independent reading with scaffolding and sociability. Harness writing about reading to convince students of their uniqueness. The shame factor is real. It's time we meet it head on with innovation and the best thinking from multiple research fields. I Hate Reading is the tool that does just that.
