Streb Natural Healing:

The Materiality and Spatiality of Death, Burial and Commemoration Christoph Klaus Streb, Thomas Kolnberger, 2021-09-28 Death dying and burial produce artefacts and occur in spatial contexts The interplay between such materiality and the bereaved who commemorate the dead yields interpretations and creates meanings that can change over time Materiality is more than simple matter void of meaning or relevance The apparent inanimate has meaning It is charged with significance has symbolic and interpretative value perhaps a form of selfhood which originates from the interaction with the animate In our case gravestones bodily remains and the spatial order of the cemetery are explored for their material agency and relational constellations with human perceptions and actions Consciously and unconsciously by interacting with such materiality one is creating meaning while materiality retroactively provides a form of agency Spatiality provides more than a mere context it permits and shapes such interaction Thus artefacts mementos and memorials are exteriorised materialised and spatialized forms of human activity they can be understood as cultural forms the function of which is to sustain social life However they are also the medium through which values ideas and criteria of social distinction are reproduced legitimised or transformed This book will explore this interplay by going beyond the consideration of simple grave artefacts on the one hand and graveyards as a space on the other hand to examine the specific interrelationships between materiality spatiality the living and the dead The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Mortality

Ethnoveterinary Medicine Lyndy J. McGaw, Muna Ali Abdalla, 2019-12-31 The importance of a complementary approach to animal health is highlighted in this book with core themes encompassing reviews of traditional veterinary medicine for common diseases afflicting livestock as well as local practices in different areas of the world The book includes chapters on ethnoveterinary medicine used to prevent and treat ticks and tick borne diseases infectious diseases and parasites Ethnoveterinary practices in parts of the world which have not been comprehensively reviewed before are highlighted including Estonia Belarus and the Maghreb the north western tip of Africa A fascinating account of African ethnoveterinary medicine and traditional husbandry practices is provided by a veteran in the field with a wealth of practical experience in the area Neglected areas of research involve the relationship of ethnoveterinary medicine with environmental ethical cultural and gender aspects and leading experts explore these issues The book is intended to provide an informative compilation of current research and future prospects in ethnoveterinary medicine which hopes to inform and encourage investigations in new directions Sustainable development requires a concerted effort to combine indigenous knowledge systems with scientific research to improve animal health This is the case not only in rural areas where access to orthodox veterinary health care may be limited but also against the backdrop of antibiotic resistance and increased demand for alternative and complementary therapies to enhance the health of both production and companion animals Students academics and veterinary professionals will find this book a useful addition to knowledge on present and future aspects of
