Walking in Cities Evrick Brown, Timothy Shortell, 2016 Walking connects the rhythms of urban life to the configuration of urban spaces As the contributors and editors show in Walking in Cities walking also reflects the systematic inequalities that order contemporary urban life Walking has different meanings because it can be a way of temporarily taking possession of urban space or it can make the relatively powerless more vulnerable to crime The essays in Walking in Cities explore how walking intersects with sociological dimensions such as gender race and ethnicity social class and power Various chapters explore the flâneuse or female urban drifter in Tehran's shopping malls Hispanic neighborhoods in New York San Diego and El Paso and the intra neighborhood and inter class dynamics of gentrification in Greenpoint Brooklyn The essays in Walking in Cities provide important lessons about urban life Professional Lives, Personal Struggles Randall Amster, Martha Trenna

Rhetorics for Community Action Phyllis Mentzell Ryder, 2012-07-10 Rhetorics for Community Action Public Writing and Writing Publics by Phyllis Mentzell Ryder offers theory and pedagogy to introduce public writing as a complex political and creative action To write public texts we have to invent the public we wish to address Such invention is a complex task with many components to consider exigency that brings people together a sense of agency and capacity a sense of how the world is and what it can become All these components constantly compete against texts that put forward other public ideals opposing ideas about who really has power and who really can create change Teachers of public writing must adopt a generous response to those who venture into this arena Some scholars believe that to prepare students for public life university classes should partner with grassroots community organizations rather than nonprofits that serve food or tutor students They worry that a service related focus will create more passive citizens who do not rally and resist or grab the attention of government leaders or corporations With carefully contextualized study of an after school arts program an area soup kitchen and parks organizations among others Ryder shows that many so called service organizations are not passive places at all and she argues that the main challenge of public work is precisely that it has to take place among all of these compelling definitions of democracy Ryder proposes teaching public writing by partnering with multiple community nonprofits She develops a framework to help students analyze how their community partners inspire people to action and offers a course design that support them as they convey those public ideals in community texts But composing public texts is only part of the challenge Traditional newspapers and magazines through their business models and writing styles reinforce a dominant role for citizens as thinking and reading but not necessarily acting This civic role is also professed Cracks in the Pavement Martin Sanchez-Jankowski, 2008-09-02 Woven throughout with rich details of everyday life this original on the ground study of poor neighborhoods challenges much prevailing wisdom about urban poverty shedding new light on the people institutions and culture in these communities Over the course of nearly a decade Martin Sanchez Jankowski immersed himself in life in neighborhoods in New York and Los Angeles to investigate how social change and social preservation transpire among the urban poor Looking at five community mainstays the housing project the small grocery store the barbershop and the beauty salon the gang and the local high school he discovered how these institutions provide a sense of order continuity and stability in places often thought to be chaotic disorganized and disheartened His provocative and ground breaking study provides new data on urban poverty and also advances a new theory of how poor neighborhoods function illuminating the creativity and resilience that characterize the lives of those who experience the hardships associated with economic deprivation
