Lorraine, 2002 This is a very strong and persuasive even compelling narrative

Donovan's argument is clearly presented well documented and convincing to the reader. Moreover, the writer is able to demonstrate that this is a very important and significant issue far greater than the question of a single film being scuttled. The relative merit of the film is not the central issue of the case but rather the question of whether the merit was fairly and openly determined by Australian Film Commission personnel and procedures. Emeritus Professor Donald Shea, College of Letters and Science, Department of Political Science, University of Wisconsin Milwaukee, December 1998. Australian National Cinema Tom O'Regan, 2005-08-10. Tom O'Regan's book is the first of its kind on Australian post-war cinema. It takes as its starting point Bazin's question 'What is cinema?' and asks what the construct of a national cinema means. It looks at the broader concept from a different angle, taking film beyond the confines of art into the broader cultural world. O'Regan's analysis situates Australian cinema in its historical and cultural perspective, producing a valuable insight into the issues that have been raised by film policy, the cinema market place and public discourse on film production strategies. Since 1970, Australian film has enjoyed a revival. This book contains detailed critiques of the key films of this period and uses them to illustrate the recent theories on the international and Australian cinema industries. Its conclusions on the nature of the nation's cinema and the discourses within it are relevant within a far wider context: film as a global phenomenon. Excel Senior High School Fundamentals of English David Mahony, 2002. This comprehensive study guide offers coverage of all five modules in the HSC English course. Deleuze and Film David Martin-Jones, 2012-04-04. Engages Deleuze's philosophy with a range of popular films and explores the degree to which a film's popularity impacts upon its ability to think in the manner that Deleuze described in relation to examples of the art of film in his Cinema books and Expanding Suburbia Roger Webster, 2001-01-01. During the last few decades, suburbia has grown enormously and become a phenomenon attracting the attention of scholars as well as practitioners by whom it is seen as an increasingly significant and complex area of modern life. The essays in this volume consider a range of representations of suburban life from the late nineteenth century to the present day, including fiction, film and popular music drawn from America and Australia as well as Britain. They explore and challenge traditional views of suburbia so that rather than a location of conformity and stereotypicality, it can be viewed as a site of social conflict, division and ambiguity as well as a source of significant creativity across a range of cultural texts. The volume takes a thematic approach, considering the rise of suburbia, imagined and real suburbs, alternative suburbs; all of the essays have a strong historical dimension and the overall approach is characterized by interdisciplinarity. Australian Cinema in the 1990s Ian Craven, 2012-10-12. This study is a collection of critical and scholarly analyses of the organisation of the Australian Film Industry since 1990. Particular emphasis is put on globalisation, authorship, national narrative and film aesthetics.
