Kristina E. Gibson

Street Kids And Streetscapes Panhandling Politics And Prophecies:

Street Kids & Streetscapes Marjorie Mayers, 2001 This book illuminates how panhandling acts as the embodiment of the experiences of street life for kids as well as how the streetscape functions as the interface between street kids and the mainstream

Street Kids Kristina E. Gibson, 2011-05-09 Street outreach workers comb public places such as parks vacant lots and abandoned waterfronts to search for young people who are living out in public spaces if not always in the public eye Street Kids opens a window to the largely hidden world of street youth drawing on their detailed and compelling narratives to give new insight into the experiences of youth homelessness and youth outreach Kristina Gibson argues that the enforcement of quality of life ordinances in New York City has spurred hyper mobility amongst the city's street youth population and has serious implications for social work with homeless youth Youth in motion have become socially invisible and marginalized from public spaces where social workers traditionally contact them jeopardizing their access to the already limited opportunities to escape street life The culmination of a multi year ethnographic investigation into the lives of street outreach workers and their kids on the streets of New York City Street Kids illustrates the critical role that public space regulations and policing play in shaping the experience of youth homelessness and the effectiveness of street outreach

Education's Prisoners Ken McGrew, 2008 Education's Prisoners sheds light on the complicated relationship among the educational system the political economy and the prison industrial system in the United States Working within the tradition of critical theory this critical ethnography posits a more than accidental connection among these phenomena and engages in a debate with existing literature within critical theory related to structure and agency The life stories of the participants and their perspectives on their social circumstances provide a tool for deepening and questioning our understandings of these matters In addition to its substantive findings this book allows us to see in human terms how structures and forces in society contribute to the outcomes of school failure and incarceration that are usually measured in percentages and correlations It suggests ways of

Indigenous

Homelessness Evelyn Peters, Julia Christensen, 2016-10-28 Being homeless in one's homeland is a colonial legacy for many Indigenous people in settler societies The construction of Commonwealth nation states from colonial settler societies depended on the dispossession of Indigenous peoples from their lands The legacy of that dispossession and related attempts at assimilation that disrupted Indigenous practices languages and cultures including patterns of housing and land use can be seen today in the disproportionate number of Indigenous people affected by homelessness in both rural and urban settings Essays in this collection explore the meaning and scope of Indigenous homelessness in the Canada Australia and New Zealand They argue that effective policy and support programs aimed at relieving Indigenous homelessness must be rooted in Indigenous conceptions of home land and kinship and cannot ignore the context of systemic inequality institutionalization landlessness among other things that stem from a history of colonialism Indigenous Homelessness Perspectives from Canada New Zealand and Australia provides a comprehensive exploration of the Indigenous experience of homelessness It testifies to ongoing cultural resilience and lays the groundwork for practices and policies designed to better address the conditions that lead to homelessness among Indigenous peoples

Kincheloe, 2005 The Critical Constructivism Primer introduces education students to the study of knowledge how it is inscribed by particular values and produced in problematic ways whose interests it serves and how it shapes the identities of those who consume it Critical constructivism is an epistemological position that examines the process by which knowledge is socially constructed Joe L.
