The logo for the television show 'Strictly Come Dancing' is centered in the image. It features the show's title in a stylized, cursive script. The word 'Strictly' is positioned at the top left, 'Come' is in the middle, and 'Dancing' is at the bottom right. The text is rendered in a golden-yellow color with a dark red or maroon outline. Behind the text is a large, textured golden sphere that resembles a disco ball. The entire scene is set against a dark blue background with numerous bright blue and white light streaks radiating outwards from the center, creating a starburst effect. Small, glowing yellow and orange particles are scattered throughout the background, adding to the festive and glamorous atmosphere.

Strictly Ballroom Liisa Hammond, 2003 The Sexual Politics of Ballroom Dancing Vicki Harman, 2018-10-10 This book presents an engaging sociological investigation into how gender is negotiated and performed in ballroom and Latin dancing that draws on extensive ethnographic research as well as the author's own experience as a dancer It explores the key factors underpinning the popularity of this leisure activity and highlights what this reveals more broadly about the nature of gender roles at the current time The author begins with an overview of its rich social history and shifting class status establishing the context within which contemporary masculinities and femininities in this community are explored Real and imagined gendered traditions are examined across a range of dancer experiences that follows the trajectory of a typical learner from finding a partner attending lessons and forming networks through to taking part in competitions The analysis of these narratives creates a nuanced picture of a dance culture that is empowering yet also highly consumerist and image conscious a highly ritualised set of practices that both reinstate and transgress gender roles This innovative contribution to the feminist leisure literature will appeal to students and scholars of anthropology dance sport gender cultural and media studies
