Textbook of Medical Ethics Erich H. Loewy, 2013-06-29 When physicians in training enter their clinical years and first begin to become involved in clinical decision making they soon find that more than the technical data they had so carefully learned is involved Prior to that time of course they were aware that more than technology was involved in practicing medicine but here for the first time the reality is forcefully brought home It may be on the medical ward when a patient or a patient's relatives ask that no further treatment be given and that the patient be allowed to die it may be in ob gyn when a 4 or 5 month pregnant lady with two other children and just deserted by her husband pleads for an abortion it may be in the outpatient setting where patients unable to afford enough to eat cannot afford to buy antibiotics for their sick child or provide him or her with the recommended diet Whatever the setting students soon find themselves confronted with problems in which an answer is not given by the technical possibilities alone indeed students may have to face situations in which all things considered the use of these technical possibilities seems ill advised But choices need to be made Some of us may choose to hide behind a mastery of technology
