The Hannaford Deception Wilda Webster, 2003-05-01 The epicurean, with an intr. by J. Hannaford Thomas Moore, 1900 Hannaford v. Photography both in the form of contemporary practice and that of historical material now occupies a significant place in the citadels of Western art culture. It has an institutional network of its own embedded within the broader art world with its own specialists including academics, critics, curators, collectors, dealers, and conservators. All of this cultural activity consolidates an artistic practice and critical discourse of photography that distinguishes what is increasingly termed art photography from its commercial, scientific, and amateur guises. But this long-awaited recognition of photography as high art brings new challenges. How will photography's newly privileged place in the art world affect how the history of creative photography is written? Modernist claims for the medium as having an aesthetic often turned on precedents from painting. Postmodernism challenged a cultural hierarchy organized around painting. Nineteenth-century photographs move between the symbolic spaces of the gallery wall and the archive, decontextualised for art and recontextualised for history. But what of the contemporary writings, images, and practices that negotiated an aesthetic status for the photographic? Photography and the Arts revisits practices both celebrated and elided by the modernist and postmodernist grand narratives of art and photographic history in order to open up new critical spaces. Written by leading scholars in the fields of photography, art, and literature, the essays examine the metaphorical as well as the material exchanges between photography and the fine graphic, reproductive, and sculptural arts.

Two Sides of the Face: Midwinter Tales Sir Arthur Thomas Quiller-Couch, 2020-09-28

Beside a high road in the extreme West of England stands a house which you might pass many times without suspecting it of a dark history or indeed any history worth mention. The country itself, which here slopes westward from the Mining District to Mount's Bay, has little beauty and unless you happen to have studied it little interest. It is bare and it comes near to be savage without attaining to the romantic. It includes, to be sure, one or two spots of singular beauty, but they hide themselves and are not discoverable from the road which rewards you only by its extravagant wealth of wild flowers, its clean sea breeze, and perhaps a sunset flaming across the low levels and silhouetting the long shoulder of Godolphin Hill between you and the Atlantic five miles distant. Noting as you passed the size of the house, its evident marks of age, and the meanness of its more modern outbuildings, you would set it down for the residence of an old yeoman family fallen on evil days. And your second thought, if it suggested a second, might be that these old yeomen, not content with a lonely dwelling in a lonely angle of the land had churlishly built themselves in and away from sight even of the infrequent traveller for a high wall enclosing a courtlage in front screens all but the upper story with its slated roof heavy chimneys and narrow upper windows and these again are half hidden by the boughs of two ragged yew trees growing within the enclosure Behind the house on a rising slope tilled fields have invaded a plantation of noble ash trees and cut it back to a thin and ugly quadrilateral Ill kept as they are and already dilapidated the modern farm buildings wear a friendlier look than the old mansion and by contrast a cheerful air as of inferiors out at elbows indeed but unashamed having no lost dignities to brood upon
