

A dark, rainy street scene at night. A person in a dark trench coat is walking away from the camera, their back to the viewer. The street is wet and reflects the blurred lights of buildings and street lamps in the background. Rain is falling, creating a sense of atmosphere and mystery.

Towards a Theory of Whodunits Dana Percec,2021-08-06 Bringing together academics from Romania the USA Spain and Turkey this volume follows the evolution of detective fiction from its early forms during the late eighteenth century until its contemporary multi media expressions Tackling the best known authors in the genre as well as marginal forgotten or eccentric names and discussing prose which fits perfectly in the pattern of the genre or texts which have been conventionally associated with other genres as well as films the book explores the impact of whodunits in both highbrow and popular culture

A Long Way from Solving that One Jeffrey H. Mahan,1990 The purpose of this book is to study Ross Macdonald's detective fiction as an example of popular culture The author applies cross methodological approaches to Macdonald's novels specifically H Richard Niebuhr's ethics to The Underground Man Freudian theories of society to The Moving Target and examines popular culture's social function in terms of Robert Merton's functional analysis of popular culture In addition the work includes an overview of hard boiled detective fiction and a review of previous critical approaches to Macdonald as well as a summary conclusion and an appendix on adaptations of detective novels to movies Adventure, Mystery, and Romance John G. Cawelt,2014-02-07 In this first general theory for the analysis of popular literary formulas John G Cawelti reveals the artistry that underlies the best in formulaic literature Cawelti discusses such seemingly diverse works as Mario Puzo's The Godfather Dorothy Sayers's The Nine Tailors and Owen Wister's The Virginian in the light of his hypotheses about the cultural function of formula literature He describes the most important artistic characteristics of popular formula stories and the differences between this literature and that commonly labeled high or serious literature He also defines the archetypal patterns of adventure mystery romance melodrama and fantasy and offers a tentative account of their basis in human psychology

Whodunit? Rosemary Herbert, 2003 A mystery expert investigates how the giants of the genre pull off all those crimes and keep the twists coming page after page then shows readers how they can do it too Twentieth Century Crime & Mystery Writers NA NA, 2015-12-25

Sex, Paranoia, and Modern Masculinity Kenneth Paradis, 2012-02-01 Sex Paranoia and Modern Masculinity explores how twentieth century conceptions of paranoia became associated with the excessive or unregulated exercise of masculine intellectual tendencies Through an extended analysis of Freudian metapsychology Kenneth Paradis illustrates how paranoid ideation has been especially connected to the figure of the male body under threat of genital mutilation or emasculation In this context he also considers how both midcentury detective fiction especially the work of Raymond Chandler and contemporaneous autobiographies of male to female transsexuals negotiate the terms of this gendered understanding of psychopathology thus articulating their own notions of moral value individual autonomy and effective agency
