Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 2012 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy and Support Office, 1998 Dominoes and Other Stories from the Puerto Rican Jack Agüeros, 2022-07-15 Dominoes and Other Stories from the Puerto Rican the only book of fiction by playwright and poet Jack Agüeros affirms the triumphs and ordinary struggles of the Puerto Rican experience in New York In stories that span the 1940s through the 1990s Agüeros re-creates the barrio in all its multifaceted immensity with its candy stores plaster saints fruit vendors sidewalk games of dominoes knife fights and stories of successful craftspeople and entrepreneurs These stories convey hard sometimes brutal often bittersweet experiences but throughout Agüeros writes with artistry and unyielding compassion Richly detailed wry and matter of fact Dominoes and Other Stories from the Puerto Rican is an important achievement by an accomplished American writer Reaching for the Mainland & Selected New Poems Judith Ortiz Cofer, 1995 Collection of poetry focusing on Latino culture and domestic life Doña Julia Alberto O. Cappas, 2002 Clear Natural Poignant These words accurately describe Alberto O. Cappas work Cappas understands the suffering and struggles of Puerto Ricans living in Mainland America as well as in Puerto Rico His poetry traces their hopes problems and misconceptions from the island to the mainland where they discover that dreams do die hard In the poem Suicide of a Puerto Rican Jibaro one need not be Puerto Rican to identify with the alienation faced when entering a cold foreign and jungle like world Cappas successfully explores what such a drastic change can mean for a Puerto Rican away from his island where he is the majority In Jibaro for the Puerto Rican man who emigrates to the United States A million times his body was raped by the

unfriendly cold to pursue the American Dream Capps is a relentless observer and commentator of what happens when a people leave their homeland or forget where they come from to pursue the uncertainties of the American Dream His poetry ironic at times questions whether this dream does exist In A Spoken Secret Light skin Puerto Ricans forget to speak Spanish and dark skin Puerto Ricans adopt hot combs to straighten their hair In Do a Julia a woman is trapped like a mouse in America and so commits suicide as a last attempt to return to her homeland And in Maria a young girl sits patiently thinking about her experiences in New York since leaving Puerto Rico and now waits for the overdose of a drug to take effect Of course this is not to say that all Puerto Ricans who emigrate to the United States end up killing themselves but it does show that Capps is keenly aware of a sort of cultural and spiritual death that happens to Puerto Ricans and other Latinos when they leave the tropical scenes and adopt certain American values In the ironic humorous poem Her Boricua a woman buys the Moon tax free and invites her relatives and friends on weekend nights to admire the beauty of her new possession She tells them that in America you have the freedom to buy anything you want Haiti in Puerto Rico explores the death theme even further I recited useless words of a poem to an audience of Puerto Ricans turned into zombies refusing to break the spell of all the misfortunes Do a Julia and Other Poems by Alberto O Capps is a book filled with poetic stories forceful and powerful imagery and messages that will stimulate all minds that come into contact with it Capps language is original and refreshing which makes his writing very natural and uncluttered with abstractions Capps is correct knows what he needs to say and clearly makes his point By Jaira Placide New York University

Lord, is this a Psalm? Jack Agüeros, 2002 Poetry Latino Latina Studies Jack Agüeros was born in East Harlem and has been a lifelong observer of and participant in New York's vibrant Puerto Rican community A former director of the Museo del Barrio Agüeros has also translated for the New York Public Theater and Sesame Street Like the title each of these 65 brief psalms is addressed to God There must be a heaven with subway trains that almost run on time for any poet with this kind of courage integrity and humor who once would have been damned as a heretic and would have worn the accusation proudly Agüeros is one street philosopher who won't let the Lord off with a warning Martin Espada
