Telecom Nation Telecommunications Computers And Governments In Canada:

Telecom Nation Laurence B. Mussio, 2001-04-27 Laurence Mussio examines how federal and provincial public policy tried to keep pace with the diffusion of telecommunications consumer demand and a rising tide of technological innovation Telecommunications regulation struggled to maintain a balance between producer and consumer in an increasingly complex field and policy makers were compelled to defend the national interest in international telecommunications arrangements or by making far reaching decisions about transcontinental microwave systems and satellites By the late 1960s national policy makers had embraced the arrival of the computer especially once it began to be wired into Canada's communications infrastructure Telecom Nation explores the impact of the computer on government policy and the first attempts to build a national computer utility the beginnings of the Internet twenty five years before it became a reality Based primarily on the rich and largely untapped sources at the National Archives of Canada Cabinet records provincial archives and private sector repositories Telecom Nation provides an essential background to contemporary public policy issues by examining how governments reconciled technological change private enterprise consumer demand and the public good in communications It will be required reading for students and specialists interested in telecommunications public policy and technological change

Made in Canada Alan Elder, 2005-02-14 The red maple leaf is the quintessential symbol of Canada and the flag that popularized it throughout the world was designed in the 1960s as a result of government legislation aimed at creating a vital new Canadian national identity through objects events and building projects Made in Canada looks at the development of Canadian craft design and culture through ambitious government programs meant to reinforce the country's identity as a modern sophisticated and autonomous nation As well it documents the demise of a singular notion of modern life and its replacement with a focus on personal identity and consumerism Changes in the 1960s included the building of modern airports first space satellite and new national symbols such as the maple leaf flag Canadians embraced this heightened sense of individuality and demanded products that were equally individual As a result pop culture objects sat on cool furniture influenced by Scandinavian modernism while handmade crafts reflected a growing concern with environmental issues Expo 67 was the turning point one final expression of optimism before Canada was rocked by social change and varied struggles for identity Made in Canada examines national dreams and expressions of individuality in thoughtful and illuminating essays Contributors include Sandra Alföldy NSCAD University Paul Bourassa Musée des beaux arts de Québec Brent Corder designer and educator Toronto Douglas Coupland artist and author Vancouver Bernard Flaman Government of Saskatchewan Rachel Gotlieb freelance curator and writer Toronto Michael Large Sheridan College Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning and Michael Prokopow Design Exchange

Canadian Communication Policy and Law Sara Bannerman, 2020-05-20 Canadian Communication Policy and Law provides a uniquely Canadian focus and perspective on telecommunications policy broadcasting policy internet regulation freedom of expression censorship defamation privacy government surveillance intellectual property and more Taking a critical stance Sara Bannerman draws attention to unequal power structures by asking the question whom does Canadian communication policy and law serve Key theories for analysis of law and policy issues such as pluralist libertarian critical political economy Marxist feminist queer critical race critical disability postcolonial and intersectional theories are discussed in detail in this accessibly written text From critical and theoretical analysis to legal research and citation skills Canadian Communication Policy and Law encourages deep analytic engagement Serving as a valuable resource for students who are undertaking research and writing on legal topics for the first time this comprehensive text is well suited for undergraduate communication and media studies programs

Innovation Nation Leonard Brody, Wendy Cukier, Ken Grant, Matt Holland, Catherine Middleton, Denise Shortt, 2009-09-02 From developing Java and the Blackberry to defining the specifications for XML Canadians have blazed trails in the world's most innovative companies Canadians have also risen to the top of the largest technology firms providing a CEO for Yahoo Jeff Mallet and eBay's first president Jeff Skoll This sets the stage for Innovation Nation a new book designed to cut through traditional Canadian modesty and provide a window into the fibre minds and makeup of over thirty Canadians whom the world needs to know Demonstrating innovative thinking and entrepreneurial drive these Canadians show themselves to be the leaders of today and tomorrow Through these profiles readers will also come to understand how Canada as a nation helped shaped the thinking of these businesses With strong qualities Canada has the infrastructure necessary to continue fostering such leadership and emerge as the world's Innovation Nation The Unreliable Nation Edward Jones-Imhotep, 2025-03-18 An examination of how technological failures defined nature and national identity in Cold War Canada Throughout the modern period nations defined themselves through the relationship between nature and machines Many cast themselves as a triumph of technology over the forces of climate geography and environment Some however crafted a powerful alternative identity they defined themselves not through the triumph of machines over nature but through technological failures and the distinctive natural orders that caused them In The Unreliable Nation Edward Jones-Imhotep examines one instance in this larger history the Cold War era project to extend reliable radio communications to the remote and strategically sensitive Canadian North He argues that particularly at moments when countries viewed themselves as marginal or threatened the identity of the modern nation emerged as a scientifically articulated relationship between distinctive natural phenomena and the problematic behaviors of complex groups of machines Drawing on previously unpublished archival documents and recently declassified materials Jones-Imhotep shows how Canadian defense scientists elaborated a distinctive Northern natural order of violent ionospheric storms and auroral displays and linked it to a machinic order of severe and widespread radio disruptions throughout the country Tracking their efforts through scientific images experimental satellites clandestine maps and machine architectures he argues that these scientists naturalized Canada's technological vulnerabilities as part of a program to reimagine the postwar nation The real and potential failures of machines

came to define Canada its hostile Northern nature its cultural anxieties and its geo political vulnerabilities during the early Cold War Jones Imhotep s study illustrates the surprising role of technological failures in shaping contemporary understandings of both nature and nation Technology and Culture ,2002 How Canadians Communicate David Taras,Frits Pannekoek,Maria Bakardjieva,2003 Manitoba Premiers of 19th and 20th Centuries Barry Ferguson,Robert Alexander Wardhaugh,2010 Annotation The province s history of religious linguistic ethnic and class conflict which has often drawn the entire country into its battles is revealed in the biographies of the Premiers Communication History in Canada Daniel J. Robinson,2004 A distinctive blend of history geography government economics and biculturalism meant that communication systems and the mass media evolved differently in Canada than in either the United States or Europe Bringing together twenty six articles that range in subject from colonial newspapers in the early 1800s to music television in the 1980s Communication History in Canada provides the historical foundation for a thorough contextual analysis of modern day media and communication in this country From Marshall McLuhan and Harold Innis to Mary Vipond and Will Straw the authors in this volume represent a wide cross section of disciplines including history communication studies sociology journalism political science and film studies Their essays are grouped in five sections Time Space Technology and Nation which explores the relationship between media society and human thought Postal Systems and Telecommunications which centres on the telegraph the telephone and computers Print Mass Media which describes the origins and diffusion of newspapers and magazines with a particular emphasis on commercialization through advertising and market research Broadcast Media which charts the rise of radio broadcasting in the inter war years and of television broadcasting from the 1950s through the 1980s and Cultural Industries which examines film and sound recording Changing Channels Peter S. Grant,2013-11-04 Renowned advocate and legal trailblazer Peter S Grant has acted for and against virtually all of the major players in the Canadian broadcast and telecommunications industry His r sum features stints as a rapporteur for UNESCO Special Counsel for the CRTC Broadcasting Arbitrator for Canada s political parties and advocate for the underdog in the David and Goliath struggle to expand Canada s culture industries In his sweeping memoir Changing Channels Confessions of a Canadian Communications Lawyer Grant affords readers an insider s glimpse into some of the biggest changes in the history of Canadian communications policy Interspersed with fond recollections of his hometown of Kapuskasing and anecdotes of his growing family Grant provides an eye opening account of the Canadian communications industries He documents his role in regulating the telecom carriers increasing competition among service providers and acting for dozens of broadcast programming services in front of the CRTC Grant s reasoned prose highlights his far reaching expertise in all areas of communications law and cultural policy and makes his story compelling to anyone who has picked up a phone or turned on a television set
