the study of a powerful medium It examines the major theories and debates surrounding production and reception over the years and considers both the role and future of television Topics covered include broadcasting history and technology institutions and ownership genre and content audiences Complete with global case studies questions for discussion and suggestions for further reading this is an invaluable and engaging resource for those interested in how to study television

Television and Adolescents: An Empirical Study B.P. MAHESH CHANDRA GURU & K.P. Divya Kumari, K.P. DIVYA KUMARI, 2021-07-03 The impact of television on the lives of the people including the adolescents is widely investigated by the behavioral scientists and media scholars in the world The present book is primarily based on an empirical investigation conducted by the authors in Karnataka state on the impact of television on adolescents The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its Global Strategy for Women s Children s and Adolescents Health calls for accelerated action for the health and progress of adolescents The book is the result of the comprehensive empirical study carried out by the authors It contains about 07 chapters namely salient features of television determinants of personality scientific study of adolescents research on adolescents and television the present investigation empirical analysis and conclusion It provides a comprehensive understanding on the need for developing a methodology of preventing the harmful effects of television on the personality of adolescents The book is indeed a welcome addition to the body of literature on television and adolescents It also meets the objective of being a text book and reference that provides empirical evidence and practically relevant guidelines pertaining to the role of television in the development of adolescents PROF B P MAHESH CHANDRA GURU b 1957 was born at Gundlupet Karnataka in a family with the background of agriculture and government service He obtained Master s Degree in Journalism and Mass Communication 1980 from the University of Mysore and PhD in Development Communication 1997 from Mangalore University He has served for about four decades as a journalist development researcher media scholar and social activist in the country Foreword by PROF SANJAY DWIVEDI Director General Indian Institute of Mass Communication JNU New Campus Aruna Asaf Ali Marg New Delhi Delhi Chinese Television in the Twenty-First Century Ruoyun Bai, Geng Song, 2014-09-15 The past two decades witnessed the rise of television entertainment in China Although television networks are still state owned and Party controlled in China the ideological landscape of television programs has become increasingly diverse and even paradoxical simultaneously subservient and defiant nationalistic and cosmopolitan moralistic and fun loving extravagant and mundane Studying Chinese television as a key node in the network of power relationships therefore provides us with a unique opportunity to understand the tension fraught and paradox permeated conditions of Chinese post socialism This book argues for a serious engagement with television entertainment rethinking It addresses the following questions How is entertainment television politically and culturally significant in the Chinese context How have political industrial and technological changes in the 2000s affected the way Chinese television relates to the state and society How can we think of media regulation and censorship without perpetuating the myth of a self serving authoritarian regime vs a subdued cultural workforce What do popular televisual texts tell us about the unsettled and reconfigured relations between commercial television and the state The book presents a number of studies of popular television programs that are sensitive to the changing production and regulatory contexts for Chinese television in the twenty first century As an interdisciplinary study of the television industry this book covers a number of important issues in China today such as censorship nationalism consumerism social justice and the central and local authorities As such it will appeal to a broad audience including students and scholars of Chinese culture and society media studies television studies and cultural studies

Television in Post-Reform China Ying Zhu, 2013-01-11 This book explores the political economic and cultural forces locally and globally that have shaped the evolution of Chinese primetime television dramas and the way that these dramas in turn have actively engaged in the major intellectual and policy debates concerning the path steps and speed of China's economic and political modernization during the post Deng Xiaoping era It intertwines the evolution of Chinese television drama particularly with the ascendance of the Chinese New Left that favors a recentralization of state authority and an alternative path towards China's modernization and China's current administration's call for building a harmonious society Two types of serial drama are highlighted in this regard the politically provocative dynasty drama and the culturally ambiguous domestic drama The book also provides cross cultural comparisons that parallel the textual and institutional strategies of transnational Chinese language TV dramas with dramas from the three leading centers of transnational television production the US Brazil and Mexico in Latin America and the Korean led East Asia region The comparison reveals creative connections while it also explores how the emergence of a Chinese cultural linguistic market together with other cultural linguistic markets complicates the power dynamics of global cultural flows
