Travel in Twentieth-Century French and Francophone Cultures Charles Forsdick, 2005-05-19 This book is one of the first studies of twentieth century travel literature in French tracking the form from the colonial past to the postcolonial present Whereas most recent explorations of travel literature have addressed English language material Forsdick's study complements these by presenting a body of material that has previously attracted little attention ranging from conventional travel writing to other cultural phenomena such as the Colonial Exposition of 1931 in which changing attitudes to travel are apparent Travel in Twentieth Century French and Francophone Cultures explores the evolution of attitudes to cultural diversity explaining how each generation seems simultaneously to foretell the collapse and reinvention of elsewhere It also follows the progressive renegotiation of understandings of travel and travel literature across the twentieth century focusing in particular on the emergence of travel narratives from France's former colonies The book suggests that an exclusive colonial understanding of travel as a practice defined along the lines of class gender and ethnicity has slowly been transformed so that travel has become an enabling figure encapsulated in notions such as James Clifford's traveling cultures central to analyses of contemporary global culture Engaging initially with Victor Segalen's early twentieth century reflection on travel and exoticism and Albert Kahn's Archives de la Plan te Forsdick goes on to examine a series of interrelated texts and phenomena early African travel narratives inter war ethnography post war accounts of Citro n 2CV journeys the travel stories of immigrant workers the work of Nicholas Bouvier and the Pour une litt rature voyageuse movement narratives of recent walking journeys and contemporary Polynesian literature In delineating a francophone space stretching far beyond metropolitan France itself the book contributes to new understandings of French and Francophone Studies and will also be of interest to those interested in issues of comparatism as well as colonial and postcolonial culture and identity

It's 1992, and Faith MacDonald's final year of university in the small province of Prince Edward Island. Faith is on the cusp of adulthood and getting more and more stressed about her future with each passing day. Part of growing up means Faith needs to deal with things she'd rather forget, but she's not confident she's ready. Especially as she's not thin enough yet, and being skinny will solve everything. Besides the internal pressure of figuring out next steps, Faith tries to navigate complicated relationships with her family, her roommate, a gorgeous student she's stalking, and every latch-key kid's eternal babysitter, the beloved television. Faith just wants love in her life. Or, at least, peace. And if she can't find either, there's always angry music to soothe her soul, and potato chips. But maybe the mysterious Mr. Darkness has something even better to offer. Terra Obscura (2003-2003) #1 Peter Hogan, Alan Moore, 2013-05-29 The heroes of Terra Obscura adjust to life after 30 years in suspended animation, but their world has become a different place.
