The African Manufacturing Firm Ata Mazaheri, Dipak Mazumdar, 2005-11-02 The book provides a useful source of greater understanding of African manufacturing firms and the perplexing lack of widespread industrial growth during the post colonial decades

The Legal Framework for Water Users' Associations Salman M. A. Salman, 1997-01-01 Recent experience confirms that participation of farmers in managing parts of an irrigation system and collecting water charges usually results in a more efficient use of water To be effective farmers in the hydraulic unit would need to organize themselves by establishing a water users association This paper presents a comparative study of the legal framework for these associations in Colombia India Mexico Nepal the Philippines and Turkey Building on the theory that participation of farmers in managing and operating parts of an irrigation system will result in an optimum use of water the document analyzes in a comparative manner how each of these countries addressed the basic aspects related to the establishment and functioning of such associations Additional emphasis is placed on the collection of water charges

Civil Service Reform in Francophone Africa 'Ladipo Adamolekun, Guy de Lusignan, Armand Atomate, 1997-01-01 The world's financial markets are rapidly integrating into a single global marketplace and developing countries are being drawn into this process starting from different points and moving at various speeds Those with adequate institutions and sound policies in place may proceed smoothly along the road toward financial integration and gain the many benefits that integration can bring Most of the developing economies lack many of the necessary prerequisites for such a move a few are so unprepared that integration may do them more harm than good Developing countries may have little choice about whether to follow this path advances in communications and new developments in finance have made the course inevitable but they may still choose the ways in which they proceed choosing the policies that benefit the economy and averting potential shocks This World Bank report looks at the important challenges both sets of countries face in a new age of global capital The book presents new and compelling evidence that while low interest rates in industrial countries provided an initial impetus to the surge in private capital flows during 1989-93 these flows have entered a new phase driven by increased financial integration The report analyzes the causes and effects of integration with a particular emphasis on how developing countries in the nascent stages of integration can learn from the experiences of the more rapidly integrating developing countries

Africa Ernest Aryeetey, 1997-01-01 FIAS Occasional Paper No 9 Many developing countries have made dramatic progress in promoting private sector participation in their infrastructure sectors especially with the help of foreign investors However this has not been the case in Southern and Eastern Africa which have been perceived as relatively unattractive locations for investment This paper describes the state of infrastructure in the region takes stock of actual and potential projects in the various sectors and analyzes the main impediments to private investment in the region s infrastructure services Africa's

Silk Road Harry G. Broadman, 2006-11-08 China and India s new found interest in trade and investment with Africa home to 300 million of the globe s poorest people and the world s most formidable development challenge presents a significant opportunity for growth and integration of the Sub Saharan continent into the global economy Africa s Silk Road finds that China and India s South South commerce with Africa is about far more than natural resources opening the way for Africa to become a processor of commodities and a competitive supplier of goods and services to these countries a major departure from its long established relations with the North A growing number of Chinese and Indian businesses active in Africa operate on a global scale work with world class technologies produce products and services according to the most demanding standards and foster the integration of African businesses into advanced markets There are significant imbalances however in these emerging commercial relationships These can be addressed through a series of reforms in all countries At the border reforms such as elimination of China and India s escalating tariffs on Africa s leading exports and elimination of Africa s tariffs on certain inputs that make exports uncompetitive Behind the border reforms in Africa to unleash competitive market forces and strengthen its basic market institutions Between the border improvements in trade facilitation mechanisms to decrease transactions costs Reforms that leverage linkages between investment and trade to allow African businesses to participate in global production networks that investments by Chinese and Indian firms can generate

Uganda's Human Resource Challenge Jörg Wiegratz, 2009 Despite significant economic recovery and improved macro economic indicators since 1986 Uganda s economy continues to face considerable challenges This book analyses the relationship between economic and human resource development in the country It identifies deficits in capabilities skills know how experience linkage building and technology use as well as undesirable business practices These shortcomings limit economic diversification productivity enhancement job and income creation as well as poverty reduction The book calls for more efforts towards human resource development The current narrow mainstream economic policy focus on macro economic stability a favourable investment climate and improved physical infrastructure alone will not foster economic development and broad based well being The Ugandan people and the private sector need more state support in addition to the predominant education and health focus of the government and donors if they are to develop the required human resources More and better training enhanced learning at the place of work and an improved business culture are vital It is essential to focus on technical organisational managerial entrepreneurial learning innovative social and institutional capabilities Efforts towards dealing with these challenges will require attention to the political economic climate of the country To make the argument the author covers a wide range of topics such as training and learning technology productivity latecomer development competitiveness labour market MSMEs entrepreneurship value chains cooperation and trust and human resource management The book contains more than 130 figures tables and information boxes See more at <http://www.africanbookscollective.com/books/ugandas-human-resource-challenge-sthash4XThRHxq.dpuf> Trends in Health Status, Services, and Finance: Statistical annex Ellen Goldstein, 1996-01-01 Education systems in more than 50 countries most of them in the industrial world have in recent years shown an interest in obtaining information on what their students have actually learned as a result of their educational experiences This interest has been manifested either by developing national procedures to assess students achievements or by participating in international studies of student achievement This book provides introductory information on ways of assessing the learning outcomes of education systems It considers the nature choice and use of indicators and describes numerous approaches to assessing learning outcomes in selected industrial countries the United States and the United Kingdom and developing countries Chile Colombia Mauritius Namibia and Thailand The authors also review systems of comparative international assessment and debate whether developing countries should participate in them The book contains boxes and tables an appendix features a national assessment checklist
