Technological Transformation Of China:

The Technological Transformation of China T. David McDonald, 2002-02-01 For years statesmen and scholars have labored to understand the nature of China Decades after the Long March and the Cultural Revolution China still struggles to accommodate itself to the desires of communism as well as economic and industrial modernization These objectives recent events have shown are not always compatible with each other Nowhere is this more obvious than in Chinas economic plans Since embarking on social and economic reforms largely benefitting agriculture and the cities of the Gold Coast area China has experienced certain consequences of the market place like inflation unemployment and graft And party leaders have learned that modern technology and foreign capital do have an effect on ideological purity Despite new social and economic disparities Chinese leaders hard line and reform alike agree on the Four Modernizations major improvements in defense industry agriculture and science and technology In The Technological Transformation of China author David McDonald describes some of the monumental tasks the Chinese face in these areas especially in the current five year plan for science and technology in which the Chinese government can claim some success When Hu Yaobang a long time voice of reform died in April 1989 and massive student demonstrations for democratization took over Tiananmen Square and much of Beijing one of the students said to a Western journalist Every four years you change your government by voting Every decade we have a revolution Revolution or transformation Whatever happens in China including renewed repression is an important part of our future Bradley C Hosmer Lieutenant General U S Air Force President National Defense University

Technological Transformation of China BPI Information Services, DIANE Publishing Company, 1990-01-01 Decades after the Long March and the Cultural Revolution China still struggles to accommodate itself to the desires of communism as well as economic and industrial modernization The author describes some of the monumental tasks the Chinese face in the areas of defense industry agriculture and science and technology Whatever happens in China including renewed repression is an important part of our future

Technological Progress and the Transformation of China's Economic Development Mode Wen Xiao, 2020-10-01 This book explores how technological progress accelerates the transformation of economic development by adopting a fundamental logical approach to technological progress intensive inputs and promotion of productive efficiency to transformation of economic development It investigates the internal mechanisms and the choice of corresponding modes that initiate technological progress to accelerate the transformation of economic development at three basic research levels micro enterprise level mid industry level and macro economy level Based on the above research the book summarizes four dimensions facilitating the transformation agricultural intensification new industrialization modernization of the service industry and the advanced manufacturing industry and linkage of the modern service industry This book is especially valuable in its hierarchical categorization covering theoretical empirical industrial and strategic exploration On one hand it analyzes the mechanisms and approaches influencing the transformation of economic development driven by technological progress from both theoretical and empirical perspectives On the other hand based on the introduction of advanced international experiences it probes into the guarantee basis for the strategic implementation and the corresponding mode choices of the transformations Furthermore it offers specific policy proposals from both the macro level of how technological progress promotes the transformation of economic development and the micro level covering the agricultural industrial and service industries

Technology and Industrial Transformation of China Yanqing Jiang,Jiewei Gu,2022-10-30 This book explores how China's industrial transformation and development depend on technology and innovation and how considerations about issues associated with technology and innovation may affect China's development strategies Market oriented reforms initiated four decades ago have constantly fueled a high speed of development in China The country's industrial structure has experienced rapid evolution In the meantime especially in the general context of globalization the country has also opened to foreign trade and foreign direct investment transforming itself from a virtually completely closed economy into a major trading nation and the largest developing country destination for foreign direct investment in the world Technology is thought to be one of the key driving forces that shape the transformation of the Chinese economy Owing to different speeds of innovation and technology diffusion uneven development is one major issue in the process of China's industrial transformation under new trends of globalization Substantial disparities across different Chinese regions e.g the gaps in regional industrial development and those in incomes and living standards have been one prominent feature of China and are needless to say closely related to different speeds of innovation and technology diffusion The relationship between technology diffusion innovation and industrial development is an important yet complicated issue that deserves careful study Considerations related to technology and innovation play a crucial role in leading and shaping China's development strategies and routes Sustainable development of China creates strong pressures for continuous transforming upgrading and restructuring of the Chinese economy and in all of these processes innovation and technology diffusion play a fundamental role The book presents to the interested reader facts thoughts models empirical results and discussions that shed light on those issues

China's Technological Catch-Up Strategy Michael T. Rock, Michael Toman,2015-02-09 Prior to 1979 China had a bifurcated and geographically dispersed

industrial structure made up of a relatively small number of large scale state owned enterprises in various industries alongside numerous small scale energy intensive and polluting enterprises Economic reforms beginning in 1979 led to the rapid expansion of these small scale manufacturing enterprises in numerous energy intensive industries such as aluminum cement iron and steel and pulp and paper Subsequently the government adopted a new industrial development strategy labeled grasp the large let go the small The aims of this new policy were to close many of the unprofitable small scale manufacturing plants in these and other industries create a small number of large enterprises that could compete with OECD multinationals entice these larger enterprises to engage in high speed technological catch up and save energy China's Technological Catch Up Strategy traces the impact of this new industrial development strategy on technological catch up energy use and CO2 emissions In doing so the authors explore several detailed enterprise level case studies of technological catch up develop industry wide estimates of energy and CO2 savings from specific catch up interventions and present detailed econometric work on the determinants of energy intensity The authors conclude that China's strategy has contributed to substantial energy and CO2 savings but it has not led to either a peaking of or a decline in CO2 emissions in these industries More work is needed to cap and reduce China's CO2 emissions Technology, Politics, And Society In China Rudi Volti, 2019-07-11 This study is the first to summarize the major technological policies implemented in China since 1949 and to place them in their social and historical context Dr Volti looks at technological change in China as part of a broader process of economic political cultural and organizational change focusing primarily on four key areas agriculture energy ground transportation and medicine and public health He emphasizes how technological change has been shaped by political and ideological structures notes how China's unique cultural heritage has affected adoption of technologies developed outside China and assesses China's success in developing technologies appropriate to its specific needs as an economically and politically developing nation He draws on interviews with technicians engaged in the transfer of technology to China as well as extensive primary source materials

Dragon in the Air: Transformation of China's Aviation

Industry and Air Force, 2013-02-15 Dragon in the Air Transformation of China's Aviation Industry and Air Force is a comprehensive and multidimensional study of the air force and the emerging aviation industry in PRC The author has made a bold effort to trace the changing character of Chinese Air Force from the time of nationalists and perspicuously hunted down the history by dividing PLAAF into three distinct periods The first stage from 1949 1979 has been characterized by the early blues of PLAAF under Mao's leadership Deng then had an overbearing influence in the second stage from 1979 1993 also instrumental in initiating the process of transformation from an ancillary of PLA into an independent arm The third stage was however the defining moment which witnessed the start of modernization of PLAAF under the leadership of Jiang Zemin The author has very lucidly tried to explain the strong link between modernisation of PLAAF and the emergence of China's aviation industry and therefore divided the book in two parts While the first part of the book maintains focus on the air force and the process of modernisation the second part dwells with the evolution of the aviation industry and the changes in the organisation structure He has pointedly highlighted China's increasing defence spending and growing military capabilities resulting in China developing new aerial platforms ballistic missiles and modern firepower As a result China is enhancing strategic power projection by building capabilities to carry out air strikes reconnaissance and early warning and air and missile defence to put together a potent military force by the middle of this century
