Wooldridge,Manuela Veloso,2007-03-06 Artificial Intelligence is one of the most fascinating and unusual areas of academic study to have emerged this century For some AI is a true scientific discipline that has made important and fundamental contributions to the use of computation for our understanding of nature and phenomena of the human mind for others AI is the black art of computer science Artificial Intelligence Today provides a showcase for the field of AI as it stands today The editors invited contributions both from traditional subfields of AI such as theorem proving as well as from subfields that have emerged more recently such as agents AI and the Internet or synthetic actors The papers themselves are a mixture of more specialized research papers and authoritative survey papers The secondary purpose of this book is to celebrate Springer Verlag s Lecture Notes in Artificial Intelligence series EBOOK: Making Sense of Children's Drawings Angela Anning,Kathy Ring,2004-08-16 If you know and love young children find a way to read this book Here you will discover the hidden talents of young children for complexity design and tenacity for learning a wonderful addition to the too small library of quality books on young children s learning through art Shirley Brice Heath Professor Emerita Stanford University and Professor at Large Brown University USA This book is unique in giving an in depth account of the way young children approach drawing at home and at school It shows the cognitive value of drawing in children s intellectual and emotional development and sets out the truly extraordinary range of drawing types that are used and understood by three to six year olds It is an invaluable experience Professor Ken Baynes Department of Design and Technology Loughborough University UK This book explores how young children learn to draw and draw to learn at home and school It provides support for practitioners in developing a pedagogy of drawing in Art and Design and across the curriculum and provide advice for parents about how to make sense of their children s drawings Making Sense of Children s Drawings is enlivened with the real drawings of seven young children collected over three years These drawings stimulated dialogues with the children parents and practitioners whose voices are reported in the book The book makes a powerful argument for us to radically re think the role of drawing in young children s construction of meaning communication and sense of identity It provides insights into the influence of media and consumerism as reflected in popular visual imagery and on gender identity formation in young children It also offers strong messages about the overemphasis on the three Rs in early childhood education Key reading for students practitioners and parents who want to encourage young children s drawing development without interfering with their creativity and who need a novel approach to tuning into young children s passions and pre occupations Screen

Time Lisa Guernsey, 2012-03-20 As a mother Lisa Guernsey wondered about the influence of television on her two young daughters As a reporter she resolved to find out What she first encountered was tired advice sensationalized research claims and a rather draconian mandate from the American Academy of Pediatrics no TV at all before the age of two But like many parents she wanted straight answers and realistic advice so she kept digging she visited infant perception labs and child development centers around the country She interviewed scores of parents psychologists cognitive scientists and media researchers as well as programming executives at Noggin Disney Nickelodeon Sesame Workshop and PBS Much of what she found flies in the face of conventional wisdom and led her to conclude that new parents will be best served by focusing on about educational media She examines how play and language development are affected by background and foreground television and how to choose videos that are age appropriate She explains how to avoid the hype of brain stimulation and focus instead on social relationships and the building blocks of language and literacy Along the way Guernsey highlights independent research on shows ranging from Dora the Explorer to Dragon Tales and distills some surprising new findings in the field of child development Into the Minds of Babies Nursing Practices And Skills Priyanka Malhotra, Shakuntala
