

An illustration of ten children, likely representing the Ten Suns, arranged in a circle. They are depicted with fair skin, blue hair, and are wearing yellow robes. The children are in various poses, some sitting, some standing, and some holding objects. The background is a dark, swirling blue and green, suggesting a celestial or mythical environment. The text is centered in the middle of the circle.

It analyses the conditions of the emergence of Chinese art and its transformation of form, content, and function throughout the Three Dynasties, a historical period marked by important changes in the social and cultural Chinese landscape. A General History of Chinese Art comprises six volumes with a total of nine parts spanning from the Prehistoric Era until the 3rd year of Xuanton during the Qing Dynasty 1911. The work provides a comprehensive compilation of in-depth studies of the development of art throughout the subsequent reign of Chinese dynasties and explores the emergence of a wide range of artistic categories such as, but not limited to, music, dance, acrobatics, singing, story telling, painting, calligraphy, sculpture, architecture, and crafts. Unlike previous reference books, A General History of Chinese Art offers a broader overview of the notion of Chinese art by asserting a more diverse and less material understanding of arts as has often been the case in Western scholarship.

A Life in Storytelling Binnie Tate Wilkin, 2014-03-25 A Life in Storytelling contains the reflections and lessons from one of the most noted storytellers of our times. Fifty years of storytelling has provided Binnie Tate Wilkin with the experiences and insights to form the basis of a text for the storyteller, both for the professional librarian, teacher, or parent wanting to provide children with substance through story. The sections of the book are designed to provide background material for the art and craft of storytelling, the methods and uses of storytelling, sources, and examples of stories, and a broad selection of over 100 stories briefly annotated. Included are sections that explain how to derive or adapt stories from current events, history, or imaginative writings, and a detailed treatment in the use of dance in storytelling, a technique that if not invented by Wilkin has become a trademark of her approach. The treatment is always informal and personal and is interleaved with anecdotes drawn from the author's more than 50 years of storytelling.

China and the Mongols Hok-Lam Chan, 2018-12-17

Published in 1999 A common theme linking these papers is that of the interaction of lite and popular traditions as found in the writings and folktales of Yuan and Ming China The first studies focus on historical writings not just as topics of intellectual and cultural history but as foundations for understanding the sources of that time and seeing how earlier periods were viewed for example in the composition of the Liao Chin and Sung histories at the Mongol Yuan court in the 1340s A second cluster examines a number of popular legends in which Mongol and Chinese elements can be seen to mix the use of a bowshot in choosing a site as in the story of the founding of Peking the legends of the foundation of the Ming dynasty or the image and fictionalisation of the great Ming statesman Liu Chi

Women in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium Ya-chen Chen, 2012-04-12 Women and Gender in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium by Ya chen Chen is an excavation of underexposed gender issues focusing mainly on contradictory and troubled feminism in the film narratives In the cinematic world of martial arts films one can easily find representations of women of Ancient China released from the constraints of patriarchal social order to revel in a dreamlike space of their own They can develop themselves protect themselves and even defeat or conquer men This world not only frees women from the convention of foot binding but it also unbinds them in terms of education critical thinking talent ambition opportunities to socialize with different men and the freedom or right to both choose their spouse and decide their own fate Chen calls this phenomenon Chinese cinematic martial arts feminism The liberation is never sustaining or complete however Chen reveals the presence of a glass ceiling marking the maximal exercise of feminism and women's rights which the patriarchal order is willing to accept. As such, these films are not to be seen as celebrations of feminist liberation but as enunciations of the patriarchal authority that suffuses Chinese cinematic martial arts feminism. The film narratives under examination include Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon directed by Ang Lee, Hero Zhang Yimou, House of the Flying Daggers Zhang Yimou, Seven Swords Tsui Hark, The Promise Chen Kaige, The Banquet Feng Xiaogang, and Curse of the Golden Flower Zhang Yimou. Chen also touches upon the plots of two of the earliest award-winning Chinese martial arts films, A Touch of Zen and Legend of the Mountain, both directed by King Hu.
