Terra Amata:

J.M.G. Le Clézio Keith Moser, 2013 This monograph represents the first comprehensive study of the multifaceted representations of the complex phenomenon of globalization in the diverse repertoire of the 2008 Nobel Laureate in Literature This interdisciplinary investigation explores the initial euphoria related to the ambivalent concept of the global village and how this evaporated dream can perhaps be reappropriated to create a better global society for both the human and Cosmic Other through the lens of Le Clézio's fiction Chapter one offers a conceptual framework for understanding the Franco-Mauritian author's nuanced ideas concerning globalization It also probes the original ambivalence of McLuhan's celebrated notion of a global village in addition to its euphoric reception Chapter two explores the current state of the interconnected interdependent modern world in which many disenfranchised and marginalized individuals are living a recurring nightmare Chapter three examines Le Clézio's deconstruction of the simplistic ideology of consumerism that is indicative of contemporary consumer republics This section also underscores the intricate systems of hegemonic domination such as the media created by the transnational corporations that dominate the global economic landscape to sustain their supremacy Chapter four delves into Le Clézio's ecocentric humanism that extends to all other living creatures by debunking Manichean dualities that separate human beings from elemental matter and the rest of the universe The final chapter examines recent texts such as Raga Ourania and Histoire du pied et autres fantaisies which encourage the reader to envision what a more just and egalitarian global village might encompass These works dismiss neoliberal fantasies and consumerist ideology that have justified the systematic exploitation of everyone and everything in the name of progress but they also urge the modern subject to be resilient in the face of tremendous adversity Instead of accepting the imposition of a monolithic socioeconomic model that is riddled with inequality and injustice and which serves the interests of the Happy Few Le Clézio suggests that the first step is to resist integration into the global village by stoically confronting reality and having the necessary courage to propose another vision which counterpoints McLuhan's misguided one Human Ecology

Bernard Grant Campbell, 1995-01-01 Biologically as well as culturally sophisticated and drawing on an impressive array of archaeological and paleontological research this new edition of a widely adopted primary and supplementary text explores human adaptations to environments over time Campbell proceeds from earlier simpler biomes to later more complex ones examining in their course selected aspects of the prehistory and history of the human species Human Ecology offers a succinct introduction to the history of these adaptations within ecosystems a shared concern among anthropologists biologists environmentalists and the general reader Another Side of France Dave Taylor-Jones, 2017-07-18 In 1966 Dave Taylor Jones met a French girl in Paris who became one of the most influential people in his life Christine and her family introduced him to the French lifestyle food and their unique way of looking at the world Through them he learnt to speak French almost bought a flat near Nice found a job in Monaco and moved to live in France all of which helped him to dispel the stereotypical image that some British people have of the French Another Side of France records some of his experiences of French life in a humorous manner and contains both essays and stories presented like two sides of a coin alternating slices of fiction with his life experiences The fiction includes ghost stories with the haunting of Nice s Terra Amata Museum the Parisian Metro and a local medieval chateau There are also stories about working in Monaco the joys of air travel auctions of Impressionist masters and knowing your own limits of compassion Dave s essays capture how he has tried to get to grips with the French medical system country life in the foothills of the Alpes Maritimes wine beekeeping and his love of dogs and birds

Ancient Building Technology, Volume 1: Historical Background G.R.H. Wright, 2022-07-18 The wealth of excavation of ancient buildings in the past 50 years and the resulting flood of publications has created a demand for a survey of building practice in antiquity This two volume work deals with the techniques of setting together the fabric of ancient buildings the manual and mechanical operations involved the materials tools and equipment used Ancient here means from very first beginnings origins to the end of Late Antiquity i e about 600 A D as manifested geographically in the Old World of Europe and the Middle East not sub Saharan Africa Further Asia the Far East or New World Building the product and the process is limited to architectural building and looks at the technology of civil engineering only where it introduces novelties Technology here means the system of techniques used in the process of building construction rather than the science or theory of building The 10 chapters of this first volume are intended to give a general perspective of animal building in the light of evolutionary biology then of building in the Palaeolithic Neolithic Mesopotamian Egyptian Levanto Aegean Achaemenid Greek Roman Late Antique Early Christian Byzantine Sassanian contexts with a weighting towards the lesser known prehistoric beginnings and late antique end The second volume will focus on the technical details materials of construction structural systems principles of construction and forms of construction 25 Read-Aloud Mini-Plays Erin Fry,2000-06 Quick two page read aloud plays to spark student interest in ancient world history Perfect for kicking off a new lesson or reviewing material Topics include the first Pyramid the Han Dynasty Romulus and Remus and 22 more Plus background information standards based research activities and resource tips For use with Grades 4 8 The Fossil Trail Ian Tattersall,1995 In The Fossil Trail Ian Tattersall the head of the Anthropology Department at the American Museum of Natural History takes us on a sweeping tour of the study of human evolution offering a colorful history of fossil discoveries and a revealing insider's look at how these finds have been interpreted and misinterpreted through time All the major figures and discoveries are here We meet Lamarck and Cuvier and Darwin we learn that Darwin's theory of evolution though a bombshell was very congenial to a Victorian ethos of progress right up to modern theorists such as Niles Eldredge and Stephen Jay Gould After the Australopithecines Karl W. Cataloging Policy and Support Office,2009 Replications Whitney Davis,2010-11-01 The twelve interdisciplinary essays collected here explore what Whitney Davis calls replication in archaeology art history and psychoanalysis the sequential production of similar artifacts or images substitutable for one another in specific contexts of use Davis suggests that while archaeology deals with the physics of replication its material conditions and constraints psychoanalysis deals with the psychics of replication its mental conditions and constraints Because art history is equally interested in the material properties and in the personal and cultural meaning of artifacts and images it can mediate the interests of archaeology and psychoanalysis Thus Replications explores not only the differences between but also the common ground shared by archaeology art history and psychoanalysis focusing for example on their mutual interest in the style of artifacts or image making their need to treat the nonintentional or nonmeaningful element in production and their models of the subjective and social transmission of replications in the life history of persons and communities Replications is an original contribution to an emerging field of study in domains as diverse as philosophy cognitive science connoisseurship and cultural studies the intersection of the material and the meaningful in the human production of artifacts Davis develops formal models for and theories about this relationship exploring the ideas of a number of philosophers historians and critics and presenting his own distinctive conceptual analysis Contemporary Art About Architecture Nora Wendl,2017-07-05 An important resource for scholars of contemporary art and architecture this volume considers contemporary art that takes architecture as its subject Concentrated on works made since 1990 Contemporary Art About Architecture A Strange Utility is the first to take up this topic in a sustained and explicit manner and the first to advance the idea that contemporary art functions as a form of architectural history theory and analysis Over the course of fourteen essays by both emerging and established scholars this volume examines a diverse group of artists in conjunction with the vernacular canonical and fantastical structures engaged by their work I Manglano Ovalle Matthew Barney Monika Sosnowska Pipa Nguyen duy and Paul Pfeiffer are among those considered as are the compelling questions of architecture's relationship to photography the evolving legacy of Mies van der Rohe the notion of an architectural unconscious and the provocative concepts of the unbuilt and the unbuildable Through a rigorous investigation of these issues Contemporary Art About Architecture calls attention to the fact that art is now a vital form of architectural discourse Indeed this phenomenon is both pervasive and in its individual incarnations compelling a reason to think again about the entangled histories of architecture and art Human Ecology Bernard Campbell, 2017-09-08 This new edition of a widely adopted primary and supplementary text explores human adaptations to environments over time It is biologically and culturally sophisticated drawing on an impressive array of archaeological and paleontological research Campbell proceeds from earlier simpler biomes to later more complex ones examining selected aspects of the prehistory and history of the human species Human Ecology offers a succinct introduction to the history of these adaptations within ecosystems a shared concern among anthropologists biologists environmentalists and the general reader In the years since this book was first published the problems that the human species has faced have become more serious As predicted world population has rapidly increased and with it starvation malnutrition and disease Our precious environment is being devastated In particular the tropical rain forests our richest resource are being cut and burned at an alarming rate with the accompanying degradation of the forest soils Their flora and fauna including their human inhabitants are being destroyed All this is being done for short term financial gain without any long term planning or understanding of the risks involved There are no simple and humane short term solutions to the central problem of increasing population pressure In the long term the only hope of making possible a life of quality for all rather than a life of starvation and squalor is through education It is essential that we understand the limits that exist to the earth's productivity and the overriding importance of maintaining richly diversified fauna and flora If we understand how we arrived at this life threatening situation the resolution will become clear Non violent and viable solutions do exist and can be implemented but the human race first must understand and face up to the nature of its frightening predicament The Strange Case of the Rickety Cossack Ian Tattersall, 2015-06-09 In his new book The Strange Case of the Rickety Cossack human paleoanthropologist Ian Tattersall argues that a long tradition of human exceptionalism in paleoanthropology has distorted the picture of human evolution Drawing partly on his own career from young scientist in awe of his elders to crotchety elder statesman Tattersall offers an idiosyncratic look at the competitive world of paleoanthropology beginning with Charles Darwin 150 years ago and continuing through the Leakey dynasty in Africa and concluding with the latest astonishing findings in the Caucasus The book's title refers to the 1856 discovery of a clearly very old skull cap in Germany's Neander Valley The possessor had a brain as large as a modern human but a heavy low braincase with a prominent brow ridge Scientists tried hard to explain away the inconvenient possibility that this was not actually our direct relative One extreme interpretation suggested that the preserved leg bones were curved by both rickets and by a life on horseback The pain of the unfortunate individual s affliction had caused him to chronically furrow his brow in agony leading to the excessive development of bone above the eye sockets The subsequent history of human evolutionary studies is full of similarly fanciful interpretations With tact and humor Tattersall concludes that we are not the perfected products of natural processes but instead the result of substantial doses of random happenstance
