The Best Of All Worlds:

Information Ecology Thomas H. Davenport, 1997-06-26 According to virtually every business writer we are in the midst of a new information age one that will revolutionize how workers work how companies compete perhaps even how thinkers think And it is certainly true that Information Technology has become a giant industry In America more than 50% of all capital spending goes into IT accounting for more than a third of the growth of the entire American economy in the last four years Over the last decade IT spending in the U S is estimated at 3 trillion dollars And yet by almost all accounts IT hasn't worked all that well Why is it that so many of the companies that have invested in these costly new technologies never saw the returns they had hoped for And why do workers even CEOs find it so hard to adjust to new IT systems In Information Ecology Thomas Davenport proposes a revolutionary new way to look at information management one that takes into account the total information environment within an organization Arguing that the information that comes from computer systems may be considerably less valuable to managers than information that flows in from a variety of other sources the author describes an approach that encompasses the company's entire information environment the management of which he calls information ecology Only when organizations are able to combine and integrate these diverse sources of information and to take them to a higher level where information becomes knowledge will they realize the full power of their information ecology Thus the author puts people not technology at the center of the information world Information and knowledge are human creations he points out and we will never excel at managing them until we give people a primary role Citing examples drawn from his own extensive research and consulting including such major firms as AT&T explores the infighting jealousy over resources and political battles that can frustrate information sharing underscores the importance of looking at how people really use information how they search for it modify it share it hoard it and even ignore it and the kinds of information they want describes the ideal information staff who not only store and retrieve information but also prune provide context enhance style and choose the right presentation medium in an age of work overload vital information must be presented compellingly so the appropriate people recognize and use it examines how information management should be done on a day to day basis and presents several alternatives to the machine engineering approach to structuring and modeling information Davenport makes explicit what many managers already know in their gut that useful information flow depends on people not equipment In Information Ecology he paves the way for all managers to build a more competitive creative practical information environment for their companies

The World of Games: Technologies for Experimenting, Thinking, Learning Daria Bylieva, Alfred Nordmann, 2023-11-23 This book reflects the various dimensions of play It gathers together experience with role play tabletop and online games and develops and assesses tools It also reflects the human condition in this world of games as it becomes a digital world We are living in a World of Games where every game is a world through which we learn about the world A World of Games is fun and engaging but it also provides deceptive pleasures What may seem like fun is far from harmless And then there are the many ways of learning in the mode of play Cross-linguistic Semantics of Tense, Aspect, and Modality Lotte Hogeweg, Helen de Hoop, Andrej Malchukov, 2009-11-30 In recent years we have witnessed on the one hand an increased interest in cross linguistic data in formal semantic studies and on the other hand an increased concern for semantic issues in language typology However only few studies combine semantic and typological research for a particular semantic domain such as the papers in Bach et al 1995 on quantification and Smith 1997 on aspect This book brings together formal semanticists with a cross linguistic perspective and or those working on lesser known languages and typologists interested in semantic theory to discuss semantic variation in the specific domain of Tense Aspect and Mood Modality The Monadology and Other Philosophical Writings Gottfried Wilhelm Freiherr von Leibniz, 1898 The monadology and other philosophical writings Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz, The Fifth Narrative Benjamin Katz, 2004-05 This book was written for bright brave and curious people who wish to become farsighted to find other meanings and necessities beyond our recent Grand Tales Religion Pessimism Capitalism and Science The Fifth Narrative is about our emergence out of our dung beetle state It reveals our unawareness that the dungballs which currently sustain us Grand Narratives constrain our ability to be farsighted thus endangering our future evolution It tells how human folly in our time seems more than ever to confound these grand stories and their bearing meaning It explains why a new grand Narrative is necessary in order to survive and prevail And why a new psychology encompassing areas like global ecology demography resources and politics is of impending necessity The book deals with the emergence of a new civilization through technology and farsighted knowledge which will form and guide our further evolution Its essential message is Let us become wiser ascending Icarus rising beyond our limiting schemes and perspectives Modernity and the Political Fix Andrew Gibson, 2019-04-18 From their decisive emergence in the late eighteenth century modernity and modern politics were long haunted by irony and paradox Ours however is the age of the implosion of modernity Modernity has degenerated into self parody The polarities that an ironic grasp of it could potentially always hold in tension are finally collapsing into each other In Modernity and the Political Fix Andrew Gibson tells the relevant story and asks what aspects of modern politics we might want to salvage and preserve and within what structure we might continue thinking about them His answer is that these questions call for the isolation of a particular set of concepts that rightly positioned in relation to one another the concepts amount to a political theology that the very formulation of political temporality is therefore at stake and that the thinking in question has been and is best represented in modern philosophy and art above all modern literature Ranging through early modern and modern thought from Hobbes Pascal and Leibniz to Rousseau Kant Schopenhauer and Kierkegaard to Foucault Lacan Badiou Jambet and Rancière and in modern literature and art from Wordsworth and Byron to Goya and Wagner Huysmans and Wilde Joyce and Woolf Joseph Roth Vicki Baum Gabriele Tergit and the Weimar novel Evelyn Waugh and George Orwell to R S Thomas and Norman Nicholson Gibson seeks to compile a modern political aide memoire a treasury for a politics to come Circuit
