The Knowledge Factory Dismantling The Corporate Uninversity And Creating True Higher Learning:

The Knowledge Factory Stanley Aronowitz, 2000 Americans can't get a good education for love or money argues Stanley Aronowitz in this groundbreaking look at the structure and curriculum of higher education Moving beyond the canon wars begun in Allan Bloom's The Closing of the American Mind Aronowitz offers a vision for true higher learning that places a well rounded education back at the center of the university's mission Aronowitz should be commended for the high seriousness of his endeavor which sidesteps the comparatively petty canon wars to ask What is the true purpose of higher education and how can we restructure our universities to achieve it Publishers Weekly One of the most important books written on higher education in the last fifty years Henry A Giroux author of The Mouse That Roared Disney and the End of Innocence Bold brassy and provocative Michelle Fine coauthor of The Unknown City Lives of Poor and Working Class Young Adults

Beyond the Corporate University Henry A. Giroux, Kostas Myrsiades, 2001 Prominent scholars in this book move boldly beyond critique to show how and why the critical functions of a democratically informed civic education not merely professional training must become the core of the university's mission They show why higher education must address what it means to relate knowledge to public life and social responsibility to the demands of critical citizenship Moreover they show why democratic forms of education and various elements of a critical pedagogy are vital not only to individual students but also to our economy and our democratic institutions and future leadership Visit our website for sample chapters Inside the "Knowledge Factory" Heinke Röbbken, 2013-06-29 Higher education institutions have proven to be one of the most enduring organizations of the last centuries In recent decades however significant changes in their institutional environment have forced universities to rethink their strategies This is particularly true for management higher education institutions How do universities and specifically business schools deal with these various expectations Are there different organizational responses in the American German or Swedish higher education systems These and other important questions of higher education management research are examined in this doctoral thesis Taking neo institutionalism theory as its basis the thesis is convincing both conceptually as well as empirically through its multiple case study design The insights gained are most interesting They reveal how a form of organizational schizophrenia can help institutions comply with external demands without compromising the pursuit of academic reputation which is essential for the inner stability of higher education institutions and their continued existence This book is relevant both for students and researchers in higher education management as well as management practitioners and administrators I can say this with conviction as Heinke Röbbken's doctoral thesis was one of the last that I supervised as a teacher before changing to the president's office of the University of Oldenburg As such I read it both from a theoretical viewpoint as well as that of a practitioner A History of the Modern Australian University Hannah Forsyth, 2014-10-01 In 1857 all of the Arts students at the University of Sydney could fit into a single photograph Now there are more than one million university students in Australia After World War II Australian universities became less elite but more important growing from six small institutions educating less than 0.2 per cent of the population to a system enrolling over a quarter of high school graduates And yet universities today are plagued with ingrained problems More than 50 per cent of the cost of universities goes to just running them They now have an explicit commercial focus They compete bitterly for students and funding an issue sharply underlined by the latest federal budget Scholars rarely feel their vice chancellors represent them and within their own ranks academics squabble for scraps Knowing Australia is a perceptive clear eyed account of Australian universities recounting their history from the 1850s to the present Investigating the changing nature of higher education it asks whether this success is likely to continue in the 21st century as the university's hold over knowledge grows ever more tenuous Cultivating Inquiry-Driven Learners Clifton Conrad, Laura Dunek, 2012-08-01 Inquiry driven learners anticipate embrace and adapt to disruptive change Clifton Conrad and Laura Dunek advance a transformative purpose of a college education They invite stakeholders from across higher education to engage in vigorous dialogue about the aims of a college education and how to realize those aims Increasingly influenced by market forces many universities employ a default purpose of a college education preparing students for entry into the workforce As a result students remain unprepared for a world in which much of the knowledge they acquire will have a shelf life of only a few years Cultivating Inquiry Driven Learners charts a new way forward It proposes that a college education prepare students to be innovative and adaptable by developing four signature capabilities core qualities of mind critical thinking skills expertise in divergent modes of inquiry and the capacity to express and communicate ideas In concert these capabilities empower students to explore and foster ideas that will prepare them to successfully navigate constant change capitalize on career opportunities enrich their personal lives and thoughtfully engage in public life This innovative book also explores a wide range of initiatives and practices for educating inquiry driven learners Examples illustrate possibilities for developing inquiry driven learners across the curriculum and are drawn from institutions with remarkably different missions and identities from research universities to liberal arts colleges Getting Things Done Virpi Malin, Jonathan Murphy, Marjo Siltaoja, 2013-09-23 This book explores the possibility of a progressive and transformative management which while grounded in the analytic tradition and values of CMS also confronts practical demands of meeting social needs Speaking Out Jack Zipes, 2004-11-15 In his successful Creative Storytelling Jack Zipes showed how storytelling is a rich and powerful tool for self expression and for building children's imaginations In Speaking Out this master storyteller goes further speaking out against rote learning and testing and for the positive force within storytelling and creative drama during the K-12 years For the past four years Jack Zipes has worked with the Neighborhood Bridges Program of the Children's Theatre Company of Minneapolis taking his storytelling techniques into inner city schools Speaking Out is in part a record of the transformations storytelling can work on the minds and lives of young people But it is also a vivid and exhilarating demonstration of a different kind of education one built from deep inside each child Speaking Out is a book for storytellers educators parents and anyone who cares about helping kids find within themselves the keys to imagination      Critical Pedagogy and Global Literature Masood Ashraf Raja, Hillary Stringer, Zach VandeZande, 2013-08-13 In one volume this edited collection provides both a theoretical and praxis driven engagement with teaching world literature focusing on various aspects of critical pedagogy Included are nine praxis driven essays by instructors who have taught world literature courses at the university level      Re-imagining Language and Literature for the 21st Century International Federation for Modern Languages and Literatures. Congress, 2005 In 28 essays selected from the proceedings of the XXII International Congress of FILLM held at Assumption University Bangkok scholars and teachers of languages and literatures have noted bemoaned and analyzed the waning influence of the humanities to varying degrees They have raised questions offered solutions and vigorously defended their languages and literatures often in no uncertain terms not as a politically correct thing to do but as a human obligation The papers presented here are true to the spirit of the Congress from the moment of the keynote address to what followed in a spontaneous outbreak of voices from scholars of more than 70 universities throughout the world For the first time in an international congress scholars have described with great sensitivity many languages and literatures often considered the periphery in a sincere attempt to understand the other thus making a passionate plea for inclusion in the umbrella of the world's languages and literatures With contributions by keynote speaker and authority on Comparative Literature Gayatri Spivak USA and plenary speakers Vridhagiri Ganeshan India Roger Sell Finland Antoine Compagnon France and Chetana Nagavajara Thailand this volume is of immense interest to scholars and teachers of languages and literatures the world over

Traces 5: Universities in Translation Brett de Bary, 2010-01-01 The fate of the university has become an object of urgent concern for academics in many disciplines around the globe as higher education has been commercialized by the global movement to reform toward new managerial structures common in business and industry In English language academic publishing the future of the university has attracted the attention of critical theorists but most works discussing the effects of profit oriented corporatization on curriculum and pedagogy have focused on North America Drawing on examples of university restructuring in China France Germany Hong Kong Korea Mexico Singapore Taiwan Russia and the United States these trenchant personal essays take global transformation of the university in the age of informatic capital as an urgent question Prominent scholars in humanities cultural studies translation critical theory and postcolonial studies discuss the emergence of cognitive capitalism neo colonialism and the hegemony of academic English academic freedom and the rise of new exploitative regimes of self management that have implicated the university in a profound reorganization of labor dissolving distinctions between the mental and manual
