formation and history of the Women's Land Army and shows how women mostly untrained and from non farming backgrounds helped maintain food production for a beleaguered nation by filling the places of men away at the war. At the height of the First World War the Land Army had a full time membership of 23 000 members a number that was to exceed 80 000 during the Second World War. The book pays tribute to women like Lady Denman who administered the Land Army during the Second World War and who was its chief inspiration and driving force and also outlines the part played by other women's groups in wartime. Containing many first hand reminiscences by the women who served and a number of evocative illustrations Women on the Land highlights the years when women were effectively to challenge long established preconceptions as to what properly constituted women's work.
