Barnhouse, Winston Black, 2023-06-01 Medievalism and medieval medicine are vibrant subfields of medieval studies enjoying sustained scholarly attention and popularity among undergraduates Popular perceptions of medieval medicine however remain understudied This book aims to fill that lacuna by providing a multifaceted study of medical medievalism defined as modern representations of medieval medicine intended for popular audiences The volume takes as its starting point the fictional medieval detective Brother Cadfael whose observations on bodies herbs and death have shaped many popular conceptions of medieval medicine in the Anglophone world The ten contributing authors move beyond Cadfael by exploring global medical medievalisms in a range of genres and cultural contexts Beyond Cadfael is organized into three sections the first of which engages with how disease injury and the sick are imagined in fictitious medieval worlds The second on doctors at work looks at medieval medical practice in novels films and television and public commemorative practice These essays examine how practitioners are represented and imagined in medieval and pseudo medieval worlds The third section discusses medicine designed for and practiced by women in the Middle Ages and today with a focus on East Asian medical traditions These essays are guided by the recognition that medieval medical practices are often in dialogue with contemporary medical practices that fall outside the norms of Western biomedicine

The Last Kingdom Bernard Cornwell, 2015 This is the story of the making of England in the 9th and 10th centuries the years in which King Alfred the Great his son and grandson defeated the Danish Vikings who had invaded and occupied three of England's four kingdoms The story is seen through the eyes of Uhtred a dispossessed nobleman who is captured as a child by the Danes and then raised by them so that by the time the Northmen begin their assault on Wessex Alfred's kingdom and the last territory in English hands Uhtred almost thinks of himself as a Dane He certainly has no love for Alfred whom he considers a pious weakling and no match for Viking savagery yet when Alfred unexpectedly defeats the Danes and the Danes themselves turn on Uhtred he is finally forced to choose sides By now he is a young man in love trained to fight and ready to take his place in the dreaded shield wall Above all though he wishes to recover his father's land the enchanting fort of Bebbanburg by the wild northern sea
