The transport proteins that are produced inside along the stream to the effluxory cells, which sends the signal to the higher brain centers. Unlike other systems, the effluxory neurons are connected directly to the control system, rather than through the thalamus to the cerebral cortex.

Neurons communicate with other cells at a synapse, the site of a nerve impulse transmission. The space between the presynaptic, or sending, neuron and the postsynaptic, or receiving, cell is called the synaptic cleft. An impulse arrives at the tip of the axon, the terminal traffic station (nerve ending) specialized called neurotransmitter. These highly specialized chemicals carry nerve impulses across the synaptic cleft between the axon and the adjacent neuron or cell, either initiating or activating neural impulses in the target cell.
