The Cinema of Discomfort Geoff King, 2021-10-07

How do we understand types of cinema that offer experiences of discomfort awkwardness or disquieting uncertainty This book examines a number of examples of such work at the heart of contemporary art and indie film While the commercial mainstream tends to offer comforting viewing experiences or moments of discomfort that exist largely to be overcome The Cinema of Discomfort analyses films in which discomfort is offered in a sustained manner Cinema of this kind confronts us with material such as distinctly uncomfortable sexual encounters It invites us into uncertain relationships with awkward and sometimes unlikable characters It presents us with challenging behaviour or what are presented as uncomfortable realities It often refuses information on which to base judgments More discomfortingly cinema of this kind tends to provoke uncertainty at the level of what emotional responses we are encouraged to have towards difficult sometimes controversial characters or events The Cinema of Discomfort examines a number of case studies including Palindromes by Todd Solondz US and Dogtooth from Yorgos Lanthimos Greece along with other examples from Austria Sweden the UK the US and Germany Offering close textual analysis of the manner in which discomfort is generated it also asks how we should understand the appeal of such work to certain viewers and how the existence of films of this kind can be explained as products of both their socio cultural context and the more particular institutional realms of art and indie film

Alexandra Lycophron, 2015

The Alexandra attributed to Lycophron is a minor poetic masterpiece At 1474 lines it is one of the most important and notoriously difficult Greek poems dating from the Hellenistic period most likely the early second century BC Most of the poem purports to be a prophecy by the mythical Trojan princess Cassandra the most beautiful of the daughters of King Priam and her prophecy ranges from the Trojan War to the Roman defeat of Macedon in 197 BC which took place in the poet's own time The poem's importance arises from the light which it sheds on Greek religion in particular the role of women on foundation myths and myths of colonial identity and on local especially Italian cults and cult places The difficulty of the poem stems from its unusual vocabulary many words of ancient Greek are found only in this poem and the riddling and indirect way in which most of the many mythological characters are introduced As well as providing the Greek text in full and its English translation this volume provides the first ever full length commentary in English on the poem
