The Oxford Handbook of Adolescent Substance Abuse Robert A. Zucker, Sandra A. Brown, 2019-08-01 Adolescent substance abuse is the nation's 1 public health problem It originates out of a developmental era where experimentation with the world is increasingly taking place and where major changes in physical self and social relationships are taking place These changes cannot be understood by any one discipline nor can they be described by focusing only on the behavioral and social problems of this age period the characteristics of normal development or the pharmacology and addictive potential of specific drugs They require knowledge of the brain's systems of reward and control genetics psychopharmacology personality child development psychopathology family dynamics peer group relationships culture social policy and more Drawing on the expertise of the leading researchers in this field this Handbook provides the most comprehensive summarization of current knowledge about adolescent substance abuse The Handbook is organized into eight sections covering the literature on the developmental context of this life period the epidemiology of adolescent use and abuse similarities and differences in use addictive potential and consequences of use for different drugs etiology and course as characterized at different levels of mechanistic analysis ranging from the genetic and neural to the behavioural and social Two sections cover the clinical ramifications of abuse and prevention and intervention strategies to most effectively deal with these problems The Handbook's last section addresses the role of social policy in framing the problem in addressing it and explores its potential role in alleviating it

Smoking, Drinking, and Drug Use in Young Adulthood Jerald Bachman, 2013 Why do some young adults substantially change their patterns of smoking drinking or illicit drug use after graduating from high school In this book the authors show that leaving high school and leaving home create new freedoms that are linked to increases in the use of cigarettes alcohol marijuana and cocaine They also show that marriage pregnancy and parenthood create new responsibilities that are linked to decreases in drug use The research is based on more than 33 000 young people followed from high school through young adulthood by the nationwide Monitoring the Future project Every two years participants reported on their drug use as well as their schooling employment military service living arrangements marriages pregnancies parenthood and even their divorces The unique qualities of this research large nationally representative samples follow ups extending up to 14 years beyond high school and multiple approaches to analysis and data presentation allowed the examination of several important influences simultaneously while retaining much of the rich detail encountered in the real world On the whole the results are encouraging suggesting that the potentials for change and improvement during the transition to adulthood are as important as the detrimental effects of problem behavior in adolescence This research is a must read for anyone concerned with how new freedoms and responsibilities impact adolescents young adults and the use of licit and illicit drugs Health ,2006 Preventing Alcohol Abuse Among Adolescents Gayle M. Boyd,Jan Howard,Robert A. Zucker,1994 Organized in terms of an implicit phases model this special issue begins with two analyses of risk and protective factors that influence adolescent drinking patterns over time without the intrusion of deliberate intervention The remaining articles focus almost entirely on intervention research studies that test or evaluate intervention strategies in terms of their impact or potential impact on alcohol use and abuse by adolescents They are organized in terms of a micro macro environmental perspective moving from the smaller microcosm of the family through school settings communities and large governmental jurisdictions The papers in this issue lay the foundation for future avenues of inquiry and highlight some very important emergent research themes It is clear that family systems are attracting attention as potential environments for preventive interventions Historically families have been perceived as sources of alcohol problems and targets of treatment Now they are being viewed as possible protective systems and settings for deliberate intervention before alcohol related problems actually occur Alcohol and Other Drugs Use by Canadian Youth Marc Eliany,Scot Wortley,E. Adlaf,Canada. Health Promotion Studies Unit,1992 This report focuses on consumption of alcohol and other drugs by youth and young adults aged 15 to 24 related behaviour and consequences The survey was conducted by Statistics Canada In total 11 634 adult Canadian 15 years of age or over participated in the survey including 1 887 youth and young adults age 15 to 24
